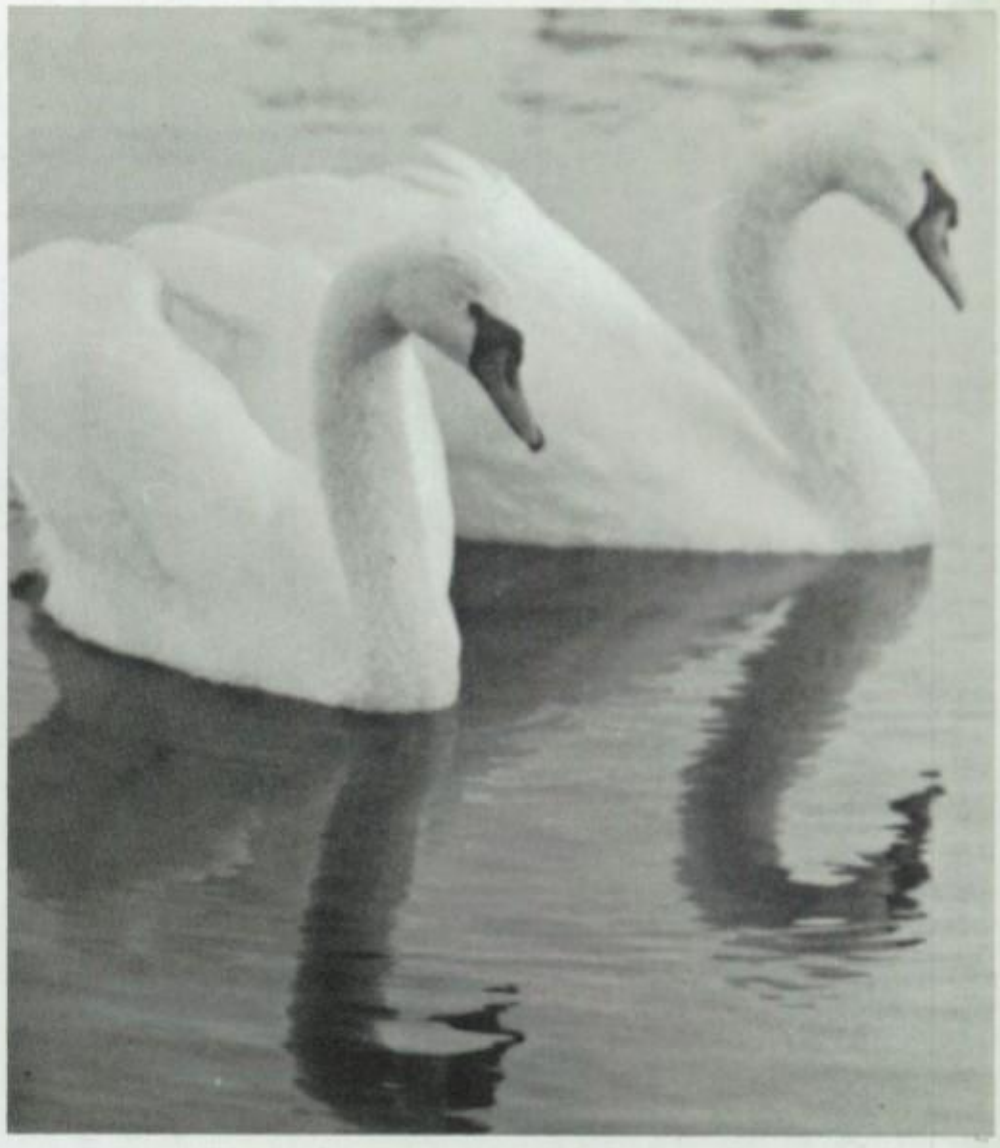
Reflections . . .
Pictured in the stillness of time
As laughter and heartbreak,
Triumph and failure—
They are mirrored
In the deep, dark water
Of the Past.
Yet, in the Past we begin,
For today is but a reflection—
One of all that has gone before
And of all that should come after.
So we walk cautiously
In the Present.
Sometimes glancing at the Past
To learn what has made us so.

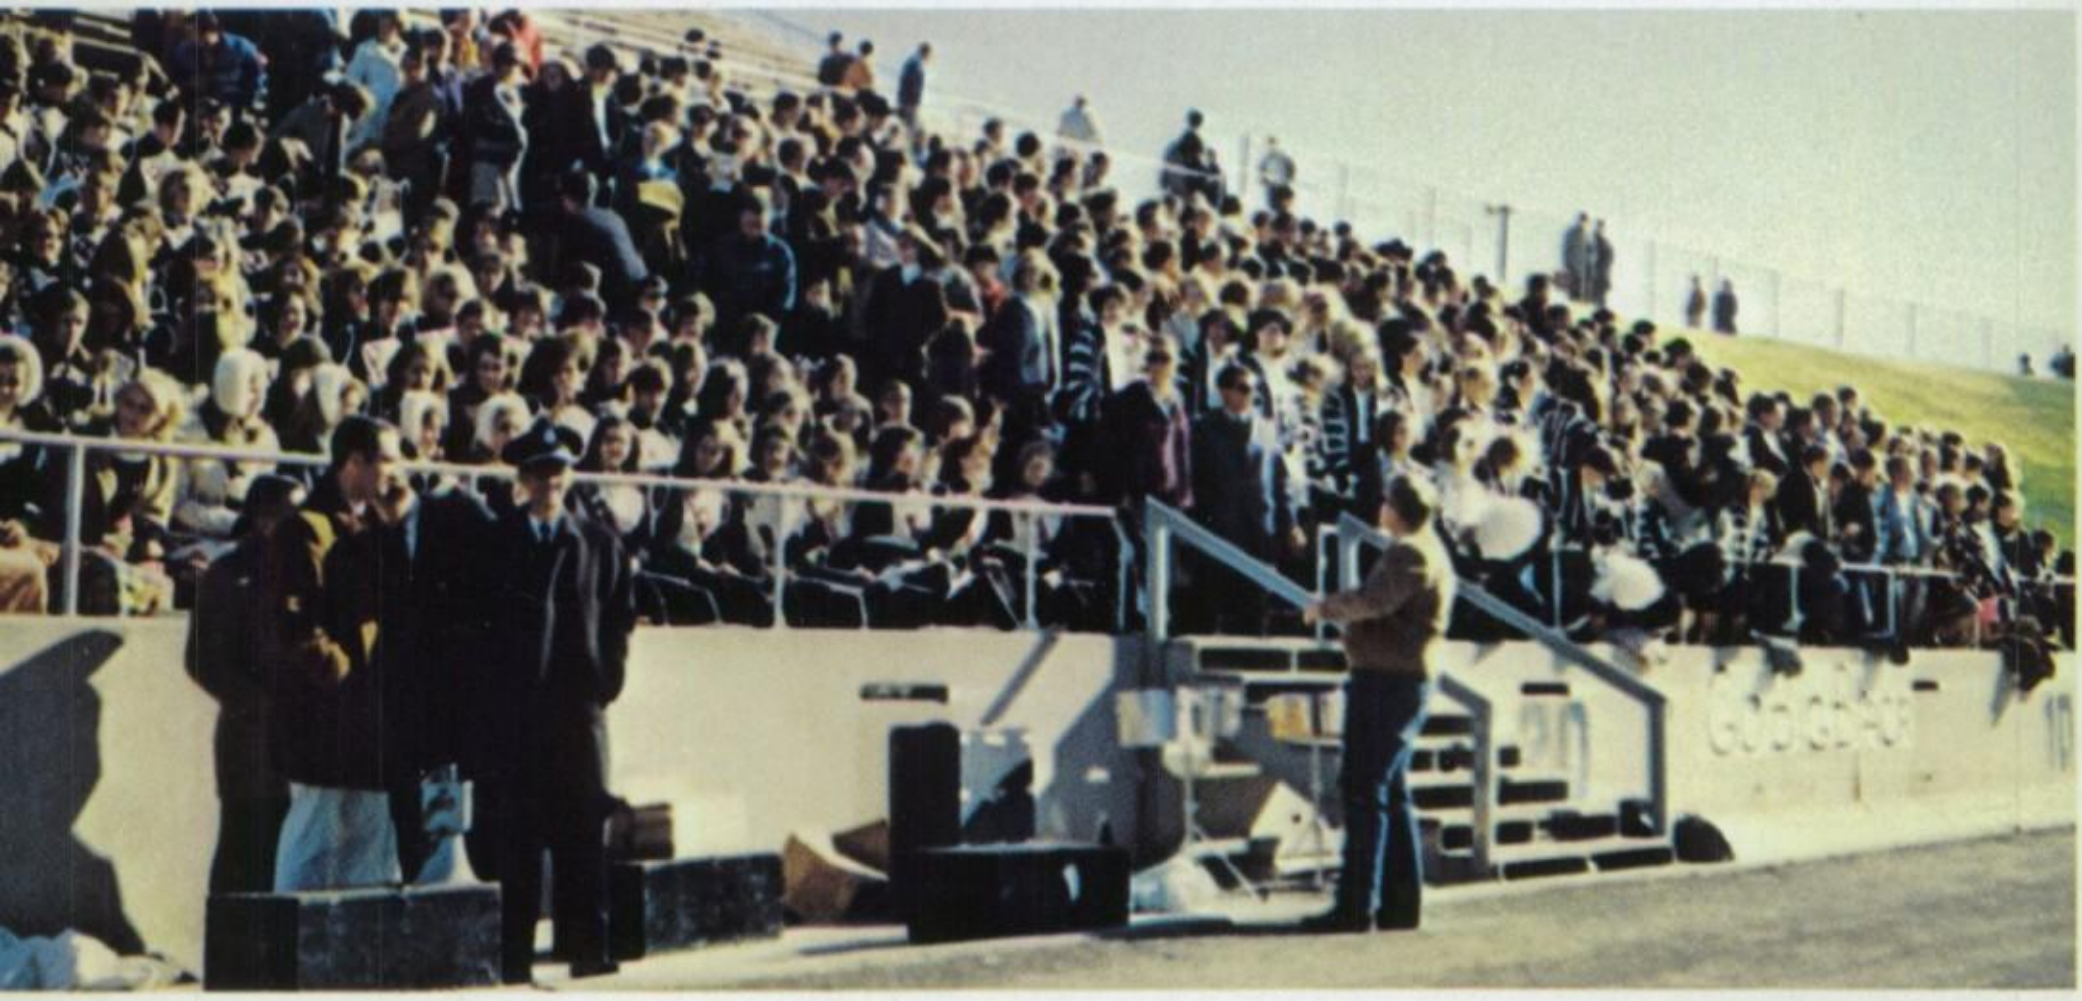
We may talk to a friend,
Or search privately
Through the pages of a book
To learn from the sea
Of past experience,
For here we find guidelines
For the Future—
Sometimes deep and frightening,
But always beckoning
With reflections
Of hope and of promise.

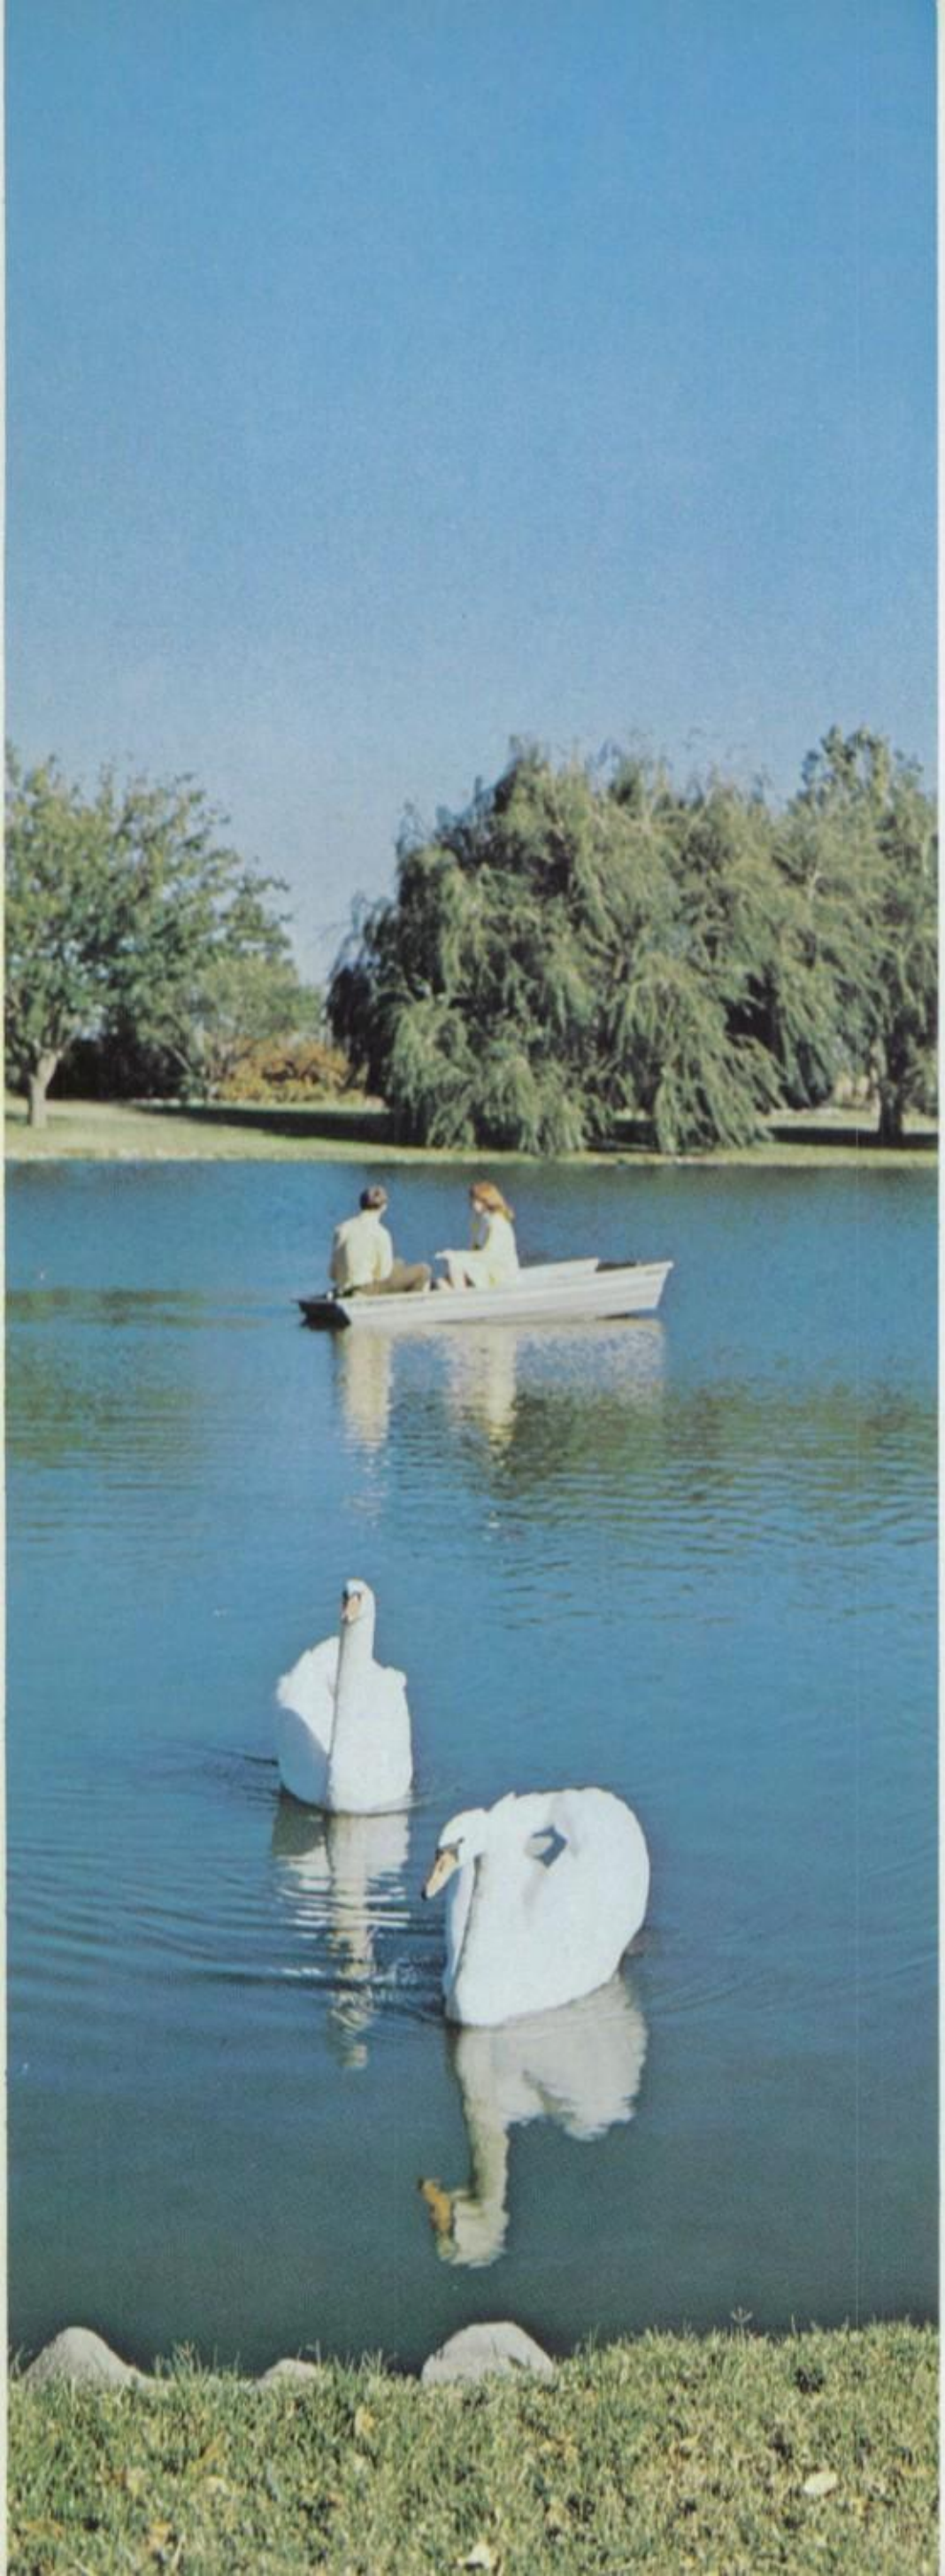
Thus, we live not only
In the Present.
For all that has gone before
And all that should come after
Is mirrored in our lives as

Reflections . . .
Of the Past,
In the Present,
For the Future.

For Today is but A Reflection . . .







. . . For All That Has Gone Before And All That Should Come After . . .

Mrs. Tittle,

You are perhaps the most understanding and patient person to ever work for Permian — and it is FOR Permian, because you spend countless hours preparing a newspaper which records the greatness and versatility of our school; teaching journalism to aspiring writers; and compiling Permian's yearbook which lasts as a permanent memory.

We, the annual staff, appreciate the effort that you exert in every endeavor for us. Thank you for understanding our incapacities and trying to make us more mature people.

Because of your dedication in your work, we wanted to surprise you with our dedication — the dedication of the 1968-1969 Permian Panther to you.

We love you, Mrs. Tittle.

Spirit and Enthusiasm

Hold on! I'm about to fall!

What's wrong with the two on the end?

He-e-e-e-e-y Go!

Oh, come on Earle—do your Panther Dance.

Go Panthers Go and

Fight Panther team fight.

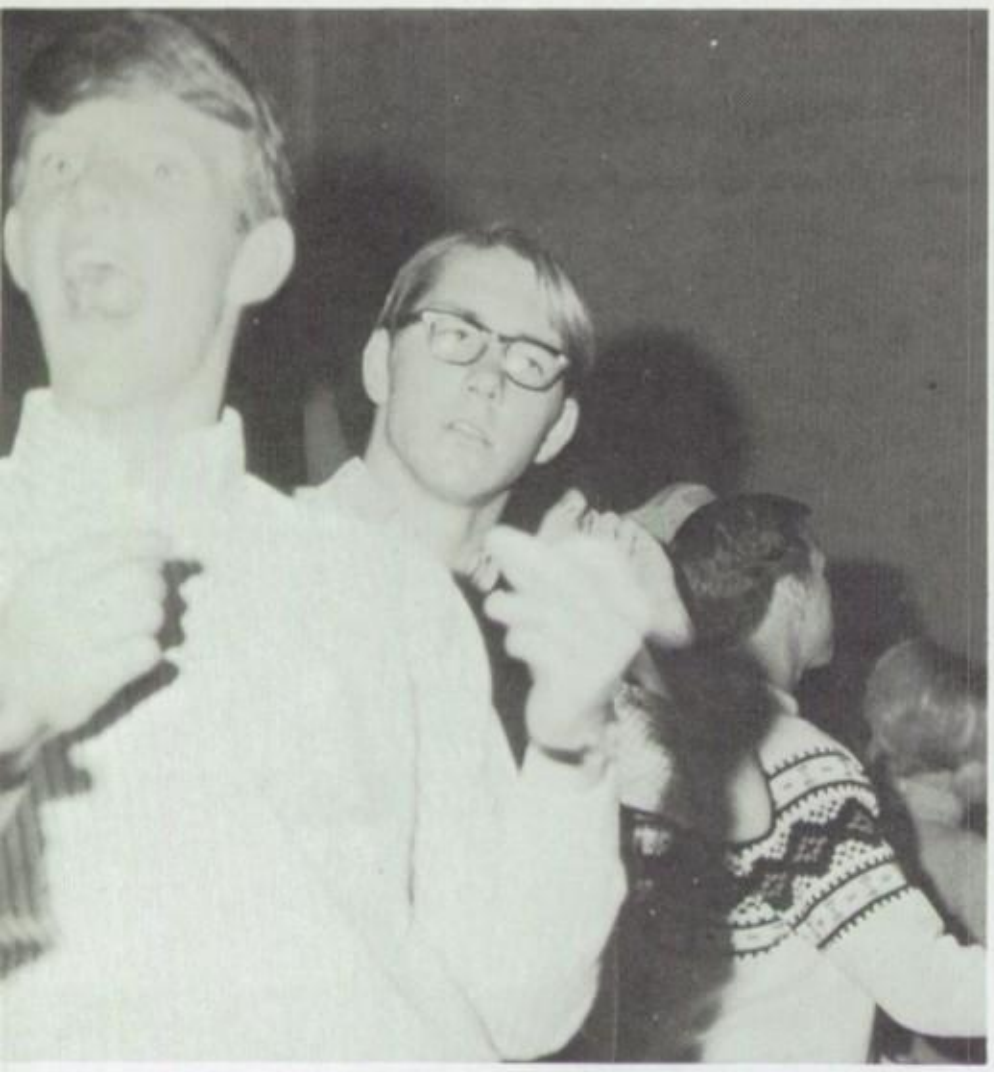
Charge!

Hey, hey, ho, ho, (ha,ha)

Majorettes perform floor shows at pep rallies.

It had to be awfully funny to make THEM laugh!

Never Stop Going



Boy, isn't he a doll!

Popcorn and cokes were sold at the playnights.

Sandy Frazier—the swingingest sophomore in town!

That skit was really a tear-jerker.

Weeks of Planning Make

Seniors selected twenty semi-finalists for Homecoming Queen.

Oh, I think I'm going to faint.

Come on, Susan, let's get this over with.

The new queen shows feelings of sheer ecstasy.

Homecoming a Success

Anxiously awaiting the royal crowning . . .

The nominees try to stay composed.

Homecoming dance climaxes this evening.

JoRene Collins, and Kent Monahan wait to crown and robe the queen.

What an Impact

After all the trouble it took to get up here, would you please go, Dale?

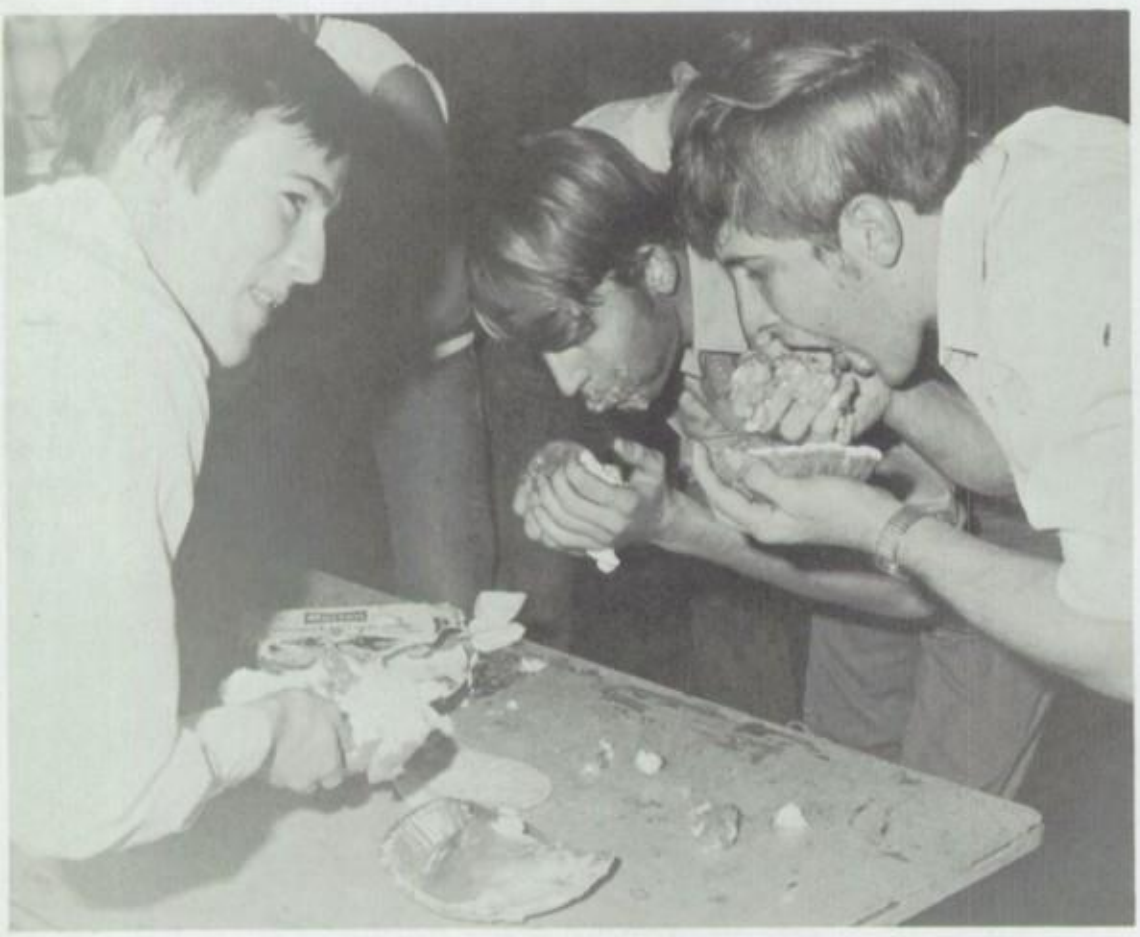
Pass is down—that girl over there wants Kent to go to twirp with her.

I got ya now, cutie !

It would be kinda hard to dance wouldn't it?

Our Voices Make

Sounds from the farm filled the gym.



The pie-eating contest resulted in dirty faces and sick cowboys.

Chip Marcum won the hog-calling contest Western Night.

But you can't jail me, I'm just a little boy.

Jack Parrish and Jim Wilson were chosen as best dressed.

Reflections on Stage

Lights, camera, ACTION!

Authentic reflections of a successful production.

A real actor must look his part.

But I've forgotten the next line.

The cast of Gramma Gurton's Needle takes a final bow.

Winter Wonderland

Reflections of a white winter accented decorations.

Cookies and cokes were served at the prom.

Time out for aching feet.

And once again "Mack" picks up the tab.

The All-School Prom was a formal dance.

The Crystal Webb provided music for the prom.

Banquet Closes

The 1968-69 football banquet had a very successful turnout.

Rhon Mayfield was crowned football sweetheart.

Travis Wright was honored as best offensive back and also received the scholastic achievement award.

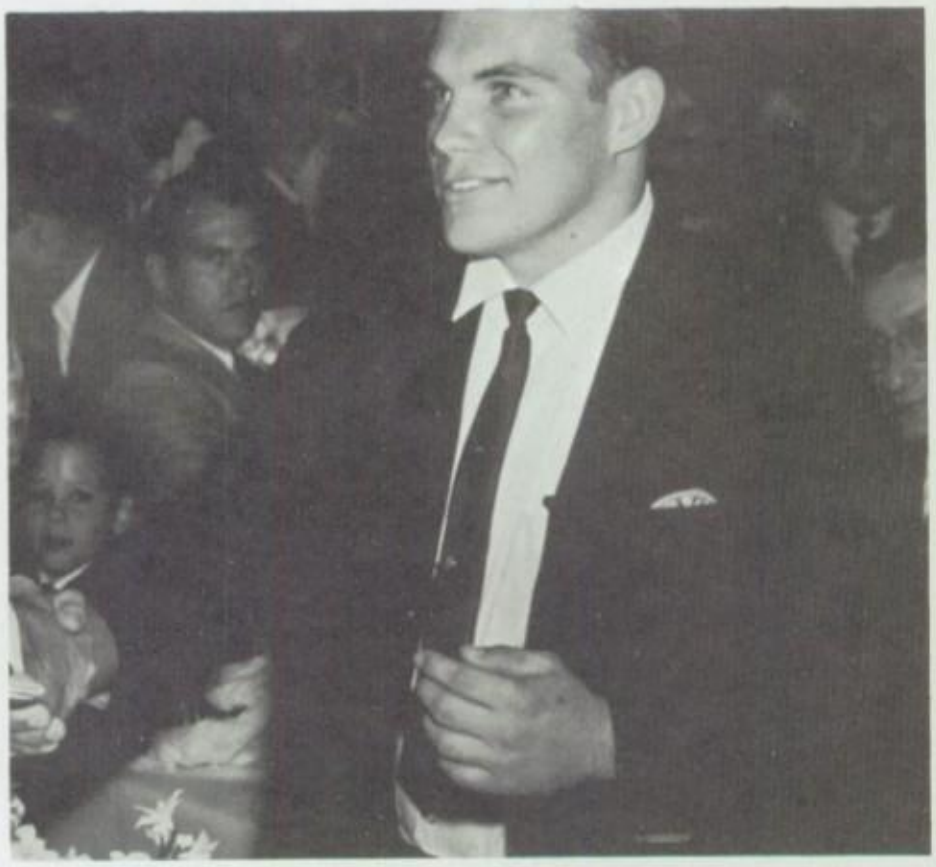
Tommy Stewart was chosen as most conscientious and most valuable player.

Football Season

Vicki Shaver, Linda Kisselburg, and Rhon Mayfield were football sweetheart nominees.

James Bond received the award for best defensive lineman.

Dennis Duckworth was chosen as best defensive back.



Chip Marcum was chosen as best offensive lineman.

Mr. Brewer, a former Panther, was Master of Ceremonies at the banquet.

Pepettes Pour It On!

The Pepettes, an organization founded in 1963, is made up of fifty-four senior girls. The aim of the girls is to promote school spirit, especially at pep rallies and games.

The high spirited, bubbly young girls are seen taping spirit posters on the walls at seven o'clock on Monday mornings, putting bows on apples Thursday midnight, boarding buses behind the teams, and supporting in every way Permian sports, as well as sportsmanship.

These young girls are much more than just a pep squad to Permian students. They brighten the halls on an ordinary school day, comfort the sophomores with their cheerful smiles, create a sensation of majesty in the juniors, and a reflection of three spirit filled years to the seniors.

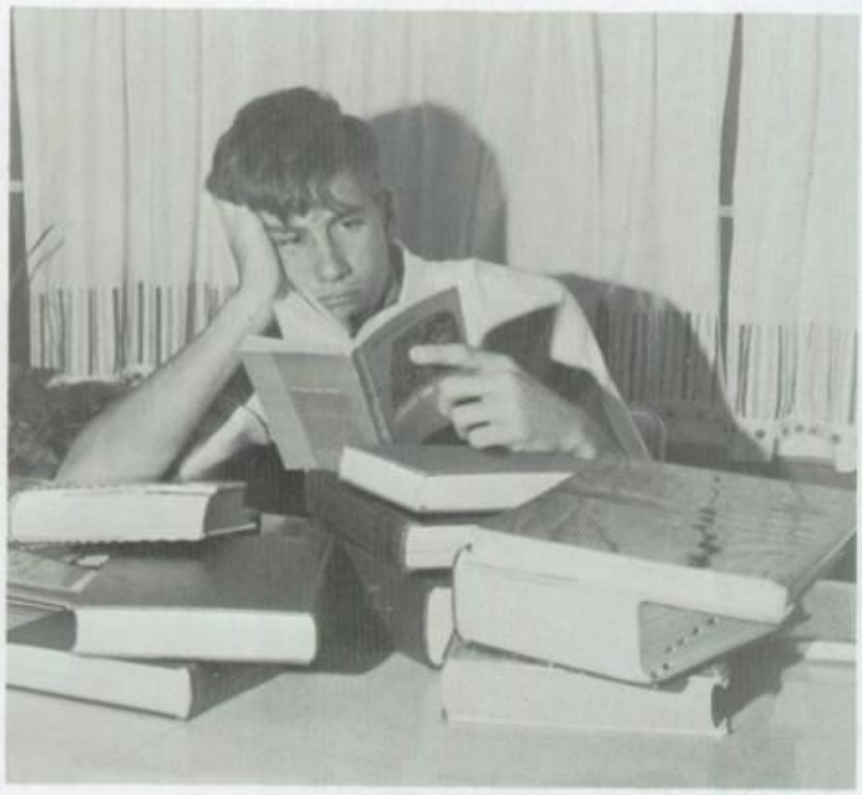
Burning

The National Honor Society . . .

Climbing, climbing, climbing, into the new, the undiscovered, the fantasy and the reality of today are Permian's outstanding students. These students have excelled in academic achievement by disciplining their minds, expanding their knowledge and exercising their curiosity. Here lies the future of tomorrow. Here lies the heart of today.



It's 3:30 a.m. and I have only ten more to go.

A Nation's Young Leaders:

Student Council . . .

The House of Representatives establishes a goal of total involvement throughout the halls of Permian. Permian is a nation. It is a nation enclosing a body of young citizens, and like all nations, Permian elects leaders and representatives to guide it. The Student Council, as it is titled, conducts many phases of Permian's activities, supports all aspects of school spirit, and promotes participation among its citizens.

Into the Darkness

"Let us begin this day . . ."

The Christian Student Union. . .

A world, a nation, a community, a school, a Christian, portrays his life by reaching out to others; others who are lost. Here lies America's new generation, living in a new world. They are abiding by the New Laws of God and Nature. They are new laws because they were never old.

Reach-Reach out—Reach out into the darkness and rescue the blind.

Quill and Scroll . . .

The J. Frank Dobie chapter of Quill and Scroll is a journalism society composed of Permian journalists who have shown outstanding achievement in some phase of journalism or school publications work, such as writing, editing, business management or production. These journalists have experienced adventure in the wide field of journalism. They have reached a point of skill, organization and high academic standing. They have learned to reproduce their scope of knowledge. They have achieved honor.

Future Teachers of America . . .

The Future Teachers of America better acquaints students with the teaching field.

The F.T.A. attends the district and state conventions and also participates in many activities at Permian.

Besides being of benefit to Permian and to themselves, the organization provides an opportunity to train students to be better, more capable, and more enthusiastic teachers, thus creating better future schools, better student-teacher relationships, higher education, and an America of greater understanding.

of Living and Learning

Janie Johnson, F.H.A. Sweetheart

Future Homemakers of America . . .

The patterns of living slowly unwind for the girls that study homemaking. The Permian F.H.A. chapter, sponsored by Mrs. Pendergraft, provides opportunites for students to obtain additional experience in planning and operating a home. Any student enrolled in Homemaking in the past or in the present is eligible for membership.

Exploring a World of Cultural Reality,

French Club . . .

Parlez-vous francaise? . . . Maybe so, maybe not, but the Permian French club gives its members an opportunity to learn, and enjoy the enchanting French customs and beliefs and an opportunity to improve their knowledge of the beautiful romance language. The club has guest speakers throughout the year and parties carrying out traditions and practices of the native French people. They study the geography, major cities and points of interest of France and the customs, habits and culture of its people.

Although few have the opportunity to visit the Southern European country, these students are in some way, drawn into contact with the nation, and the French people, as well as the language.

Speech Is the Index of the Mind.

Keltics . . .

Speech is the greatest means of communication in this society. This century is an era of science. In a scientific era, more than scientists are needed. Some must write about it and others must speak. Speech is where learning begins. A great part of Permian pride begins in the speech department.

Keltics earn points for their membership rights in the many speech tournaments held during the year. Mr. Sibley, commonly known as "Sibley", serves as both the instructor and sponsor of this group.

Days That

Memories, laughter, tears, heartaches . . . a view of a yearbook staff members . . .

A yearbook is a treasure. As all treasures, a yearbook must be discovered, polished, refined and then reproduced.

In this book, life has been captured. Youth is like a fleeting butterfly. It is born, grows and becomes bright and beautiful, then in later life its colorful wings fade. Eventually its life fades, too. Here is youth. It is life. It is a time that shall never be lived again in reality, but here it can forever be relived in the fantasy of memories.

We want to present you with a world of youth and the memories, laughter, tears, heartaches, headaches, yet all-joyful days of this year. It is over now . . . yet it shall never die.

Expression—A Need of Today

PANTHER TALES Staff . . .

Expression—a need of today. People must express their feelings. No two people feel the same. No two people express their feelings in the same way. Some speak, some act and some write. All through the ages, people have enjoyed reading expressions of others. Express an old thought; a new one; a thought.

Outstanding Seniors Reach

NMSQT

Last winter the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test was offered to all juniors. Sections on English, social sciences, mathematics, and word usage were included in the tests.

The National Merit finalists are chosen as a result of their high scores on the NMSQT. A diligent dedication to regular school work, widespread academic background, and a general knowledge of practical usage is required to obtain this honor.

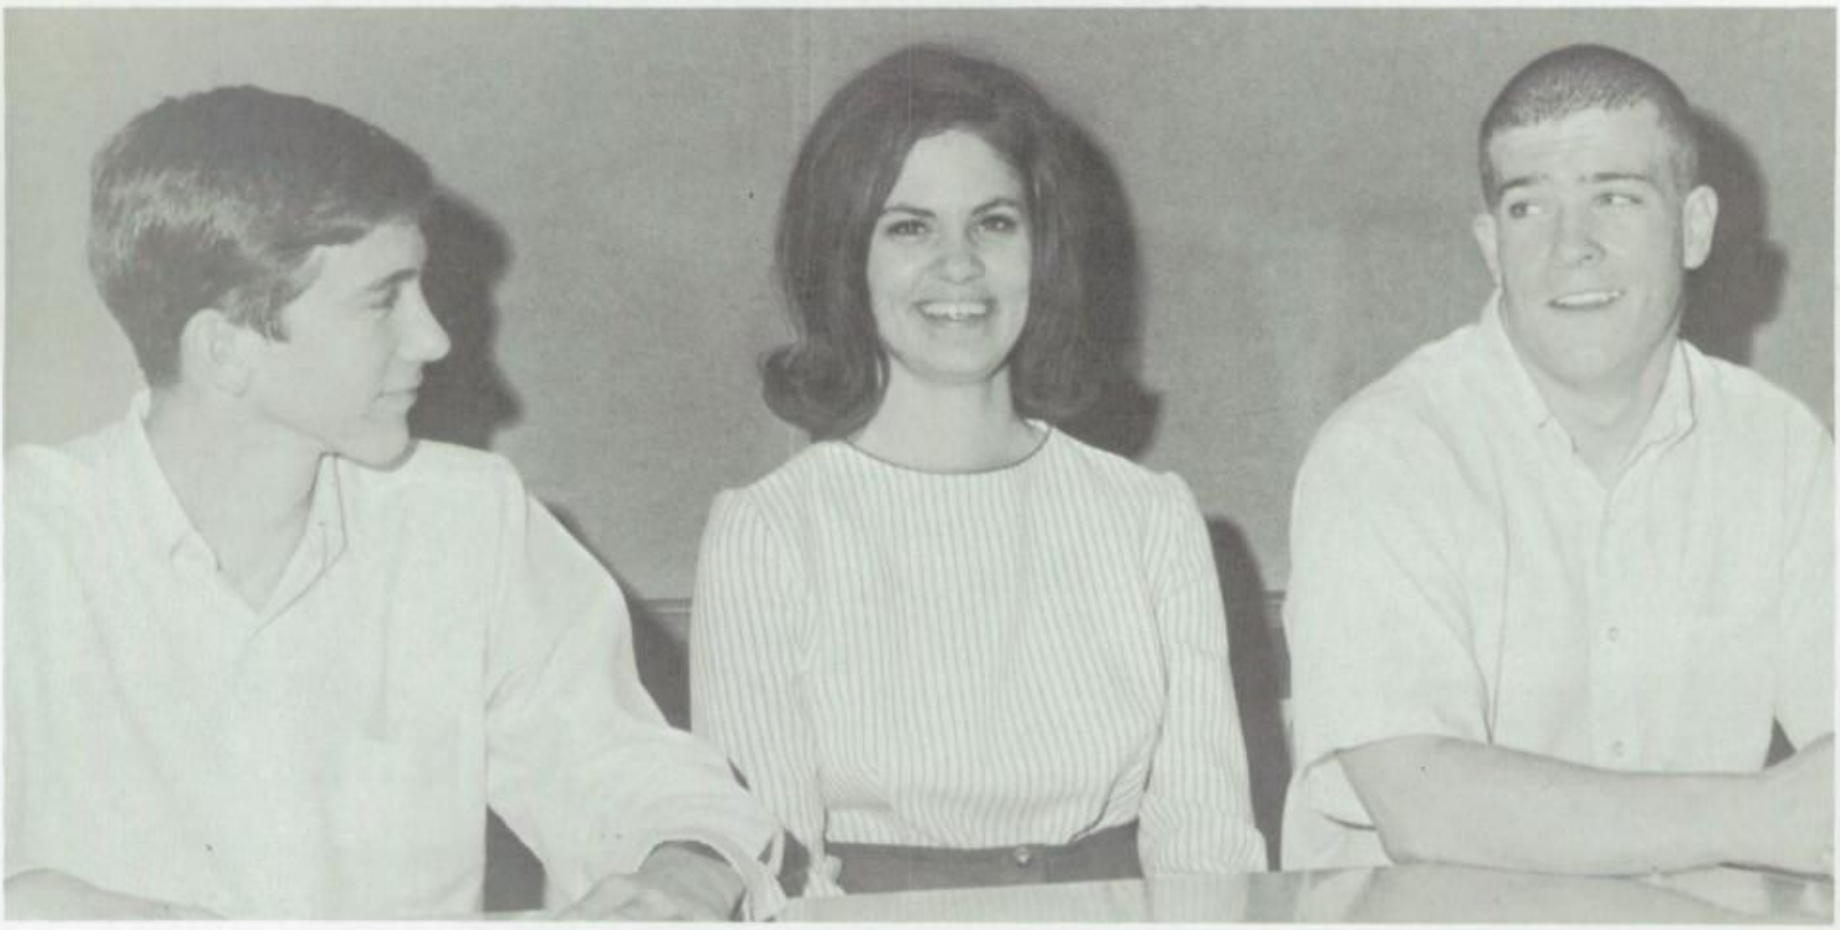
Last year during the spring, four boys were chosen by teachers to represent Permian at Boys State, sponsored by the American Legion, in Austin. The women of the American Legion selected one girl. These students were chosen for their outstanding qualities of citizenship and qualities of citizenship and scholastic abilities.

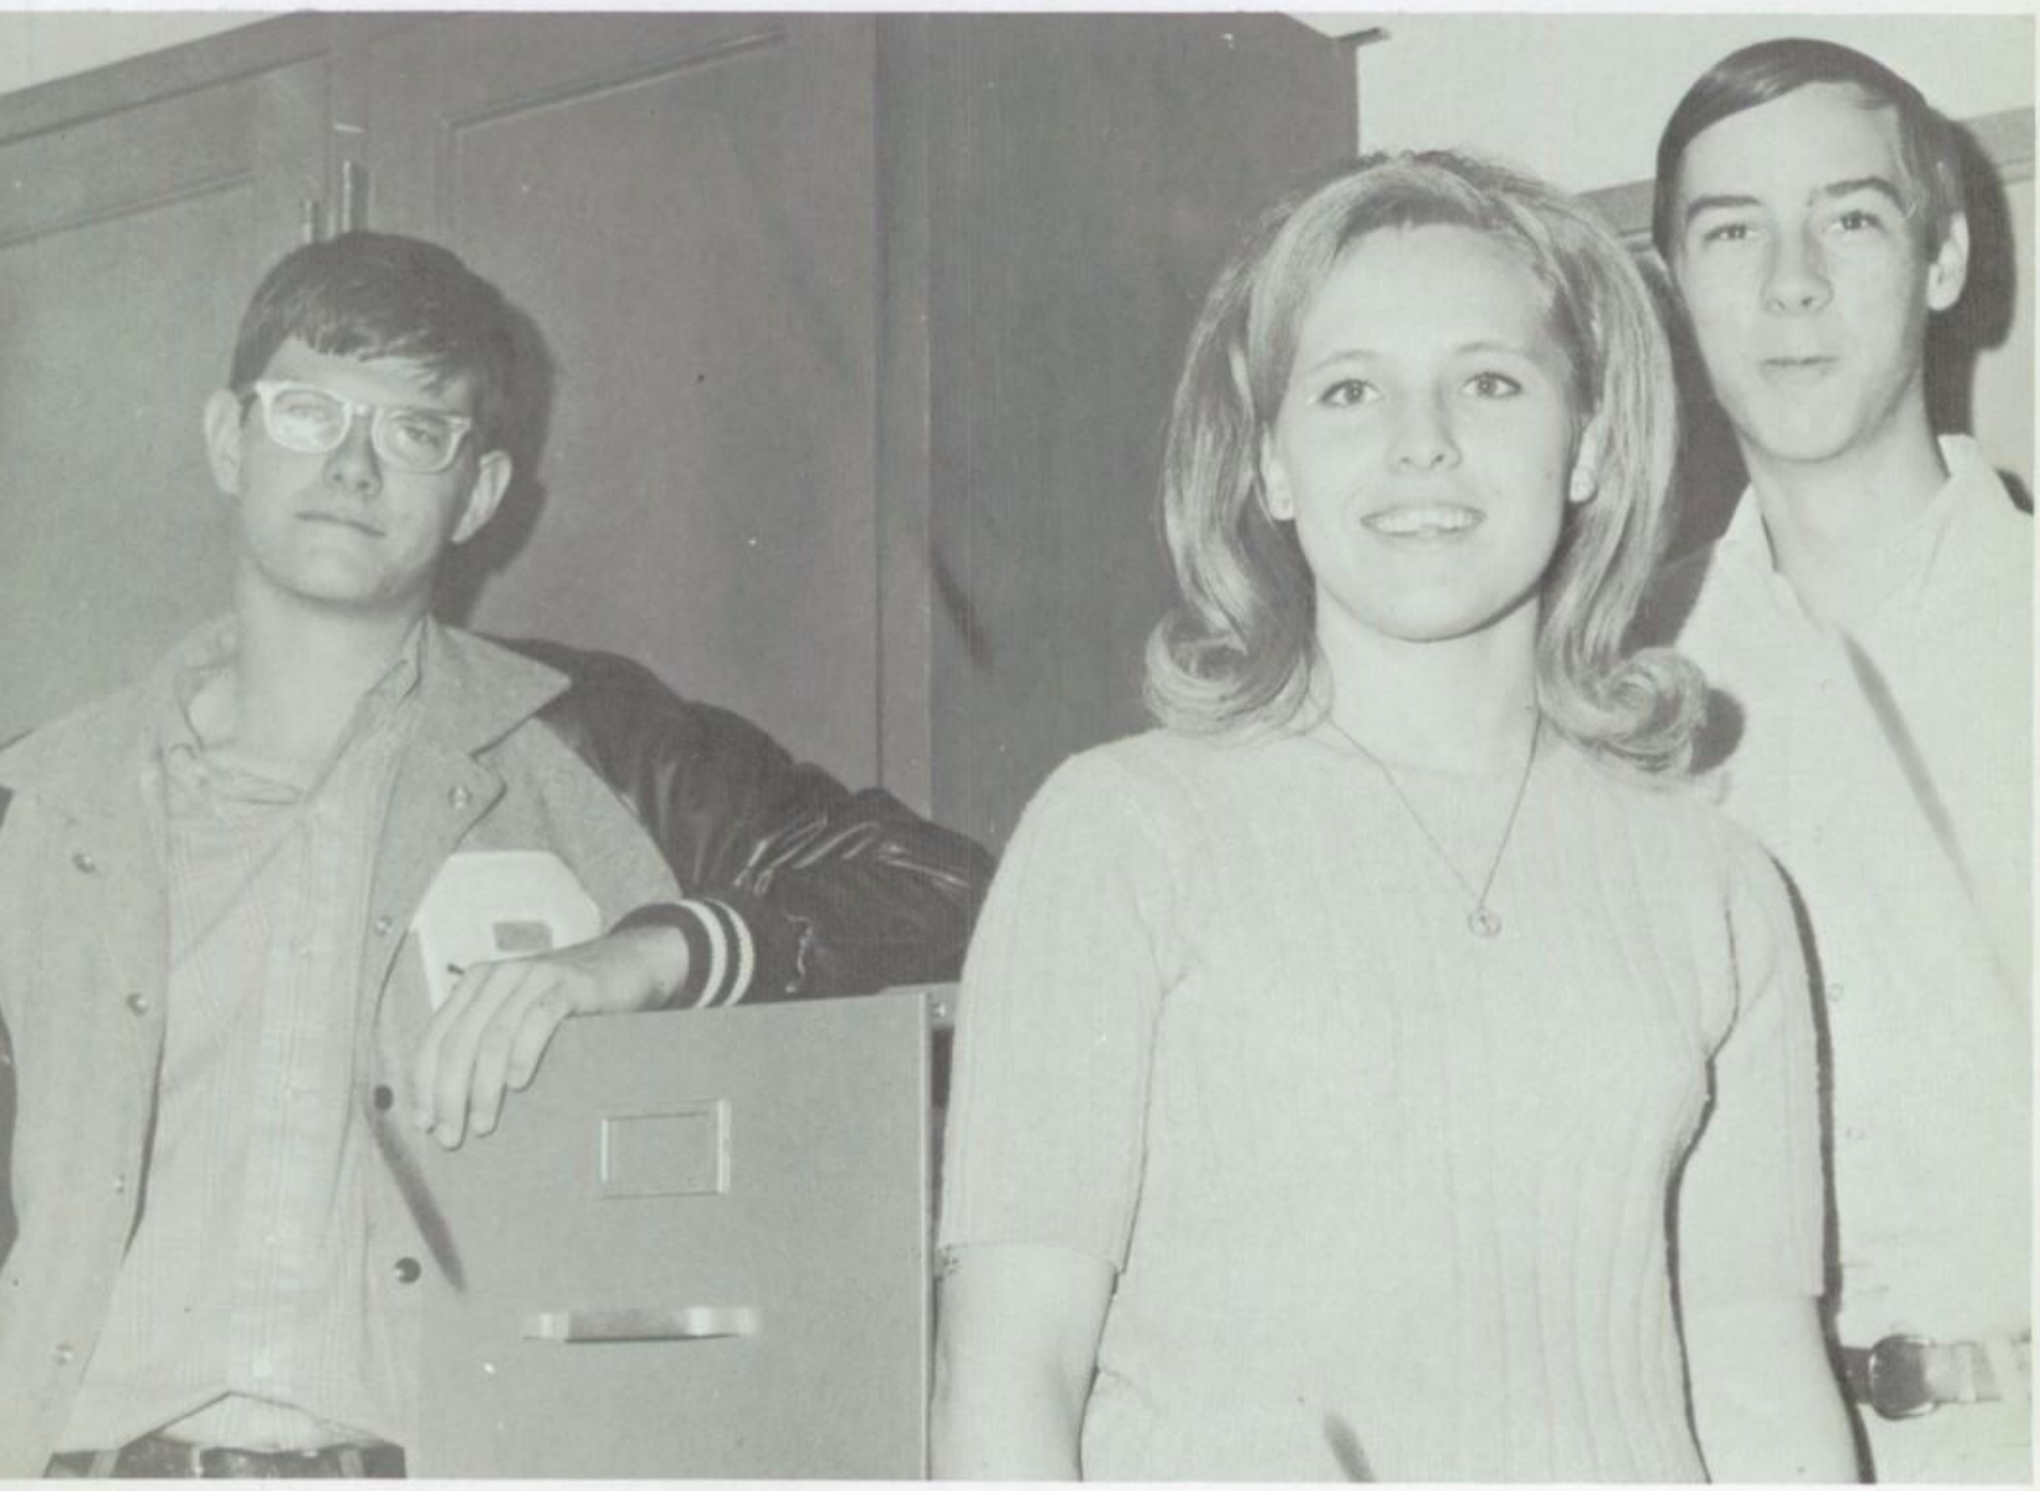
This session is a detailed study of government by participation. The delegates took part in the State Senate and House of Representatives affairs. They carried on political campaigns and elections in addition to hearing many fine speakers.

JoRene Collins

in Government



"JoRene really spent all of her time at Boys' State."



Runners up to All State: David Deaderick, Joan Brown, and Richard Lindsey

Senior Hall

Seniors . . . the backbone of a school. And every year there are special seniors—those who are devoted to their school and the betterment of their community. These are the students who have strived for academic achievement as well as good citizenship. Their leadership abilities, strong determination, and high goals truly make them deserving of a lasting place in the SENIOR HALL OF FAME.

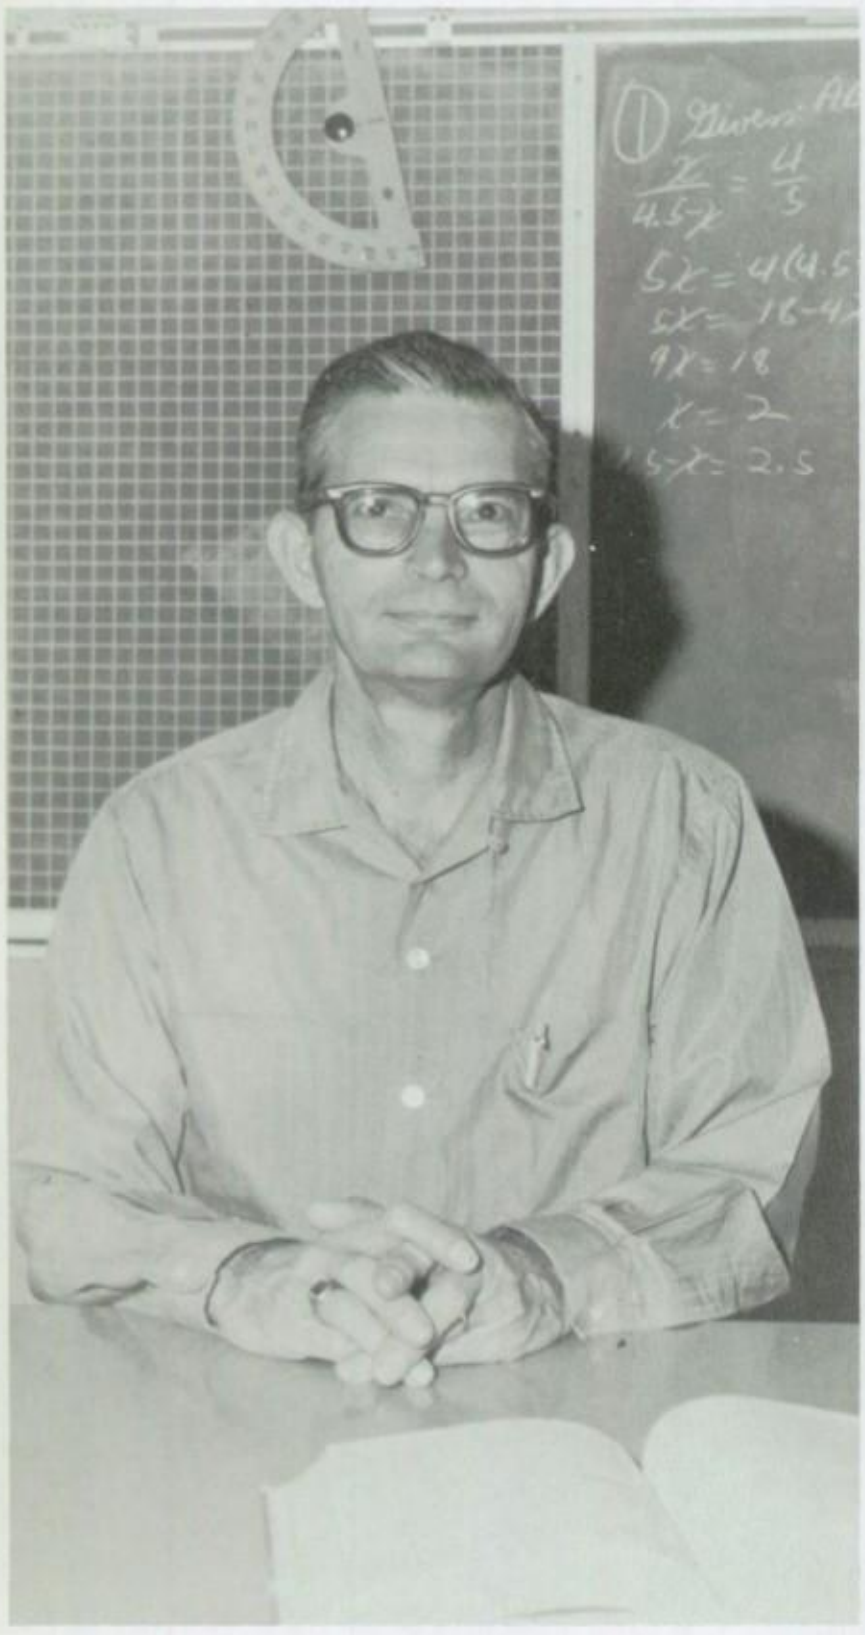
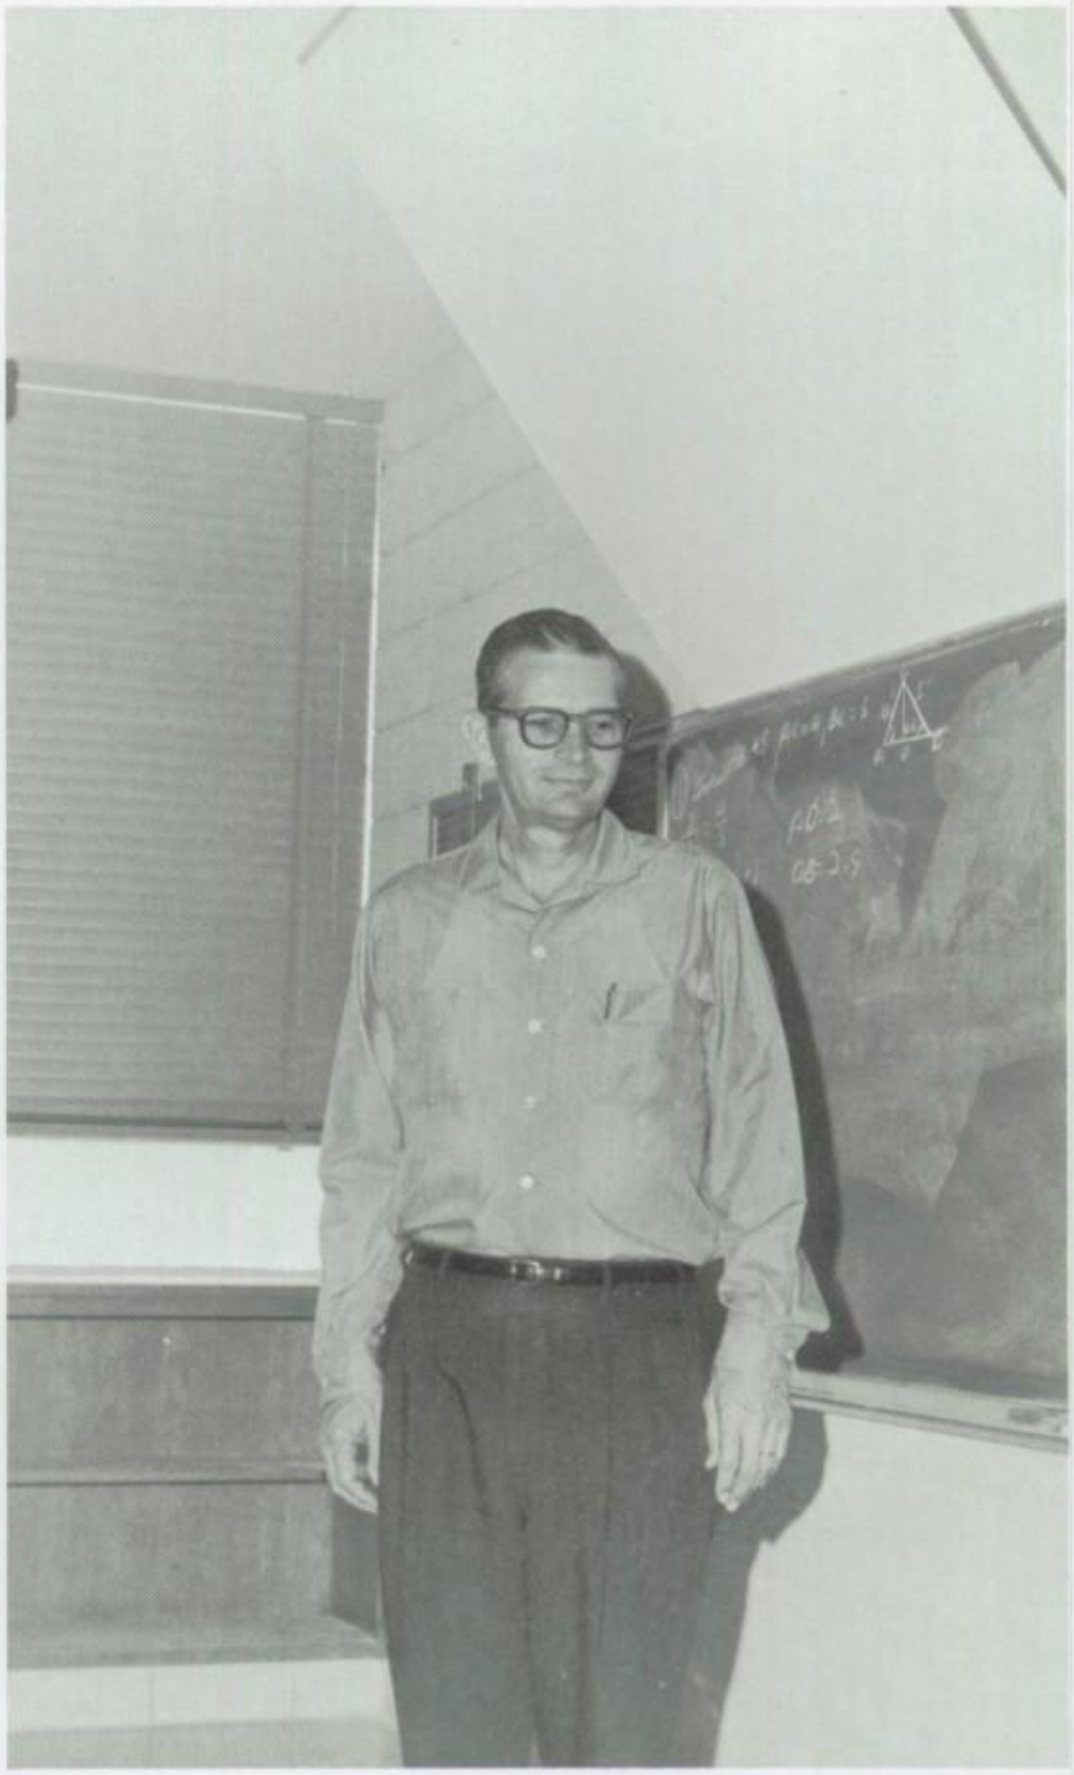
Favorite Teachers Add

Mr. Grubbs. . .

. . . received his Masters degree from East Texas State University. Coming to Permian in 1967, he teaches geometry and related math. With an occasional joke and a nonchalant manner his classes are always interesting. These characteristics along with much understanding make him one of our favorites.



Always ready for a mug shot.



Watch out for that mad eraser!

Just a moment to relax.

Life to the Classroom

Mrs. Martin. . .

. . came to Permian in 1965. She received her B.S. degree from the University of Colorado. While at Permian she has taught girl's physical education and health. With her keen sense of devotion she always has something interesting to offer to her students. Her bright smile, cheerful greeting and kind patience make her a friend to all.

Today we have a very informative film.

"Now, friends . . ."

"Well, Honey, why don't you want to do the Recessa-Anna."

Mr. McDonald . . . a friend, a diplomat, and an administrator. He is one who still cares about today's youth. His face is a face of authority, of hope, and of responsibility. Day after day, he faces the teenagers of the modern generation. He encourages them and helps them discover opportunity. He is proud to look at his students who achieve. He is proud to see his school succeed and excel. He loves youth.

Newte Cooper, B.S.
John Goodman, M.A.
Gordon Madison, B.S., M.A.
Faye Mathews, B.A., M.A.
Virginia Troupe, B.A., M.A.

"Being a sophomore dean isn't so bad—see, I can still smile," says Mr. Cooper.

Mr. Goodman, the senior dean, summons students to his office for conferences.

Even though Mr. Christain's "mail-reading" office is isolated, he is FAR from being isolated.

Mrs. Troupe, the senior counselor, advises seniors as to college entrance exams.

Permian's paper work is endless—especially for junior counselor Miss Matthews.

Mr. Madison has the difficult job of counseling the sophomores THROUGH high school TO college.

The Registrar, Secretaries, Bookkeeper

OFFICE PERSONNEL:
Lois Hesser
Madaline Long
Bonnie Lunn
Johnnie Sullins
Geraldine Trulock

"Permian High School, may I help you?"—Mrs. Lunn, secretary.

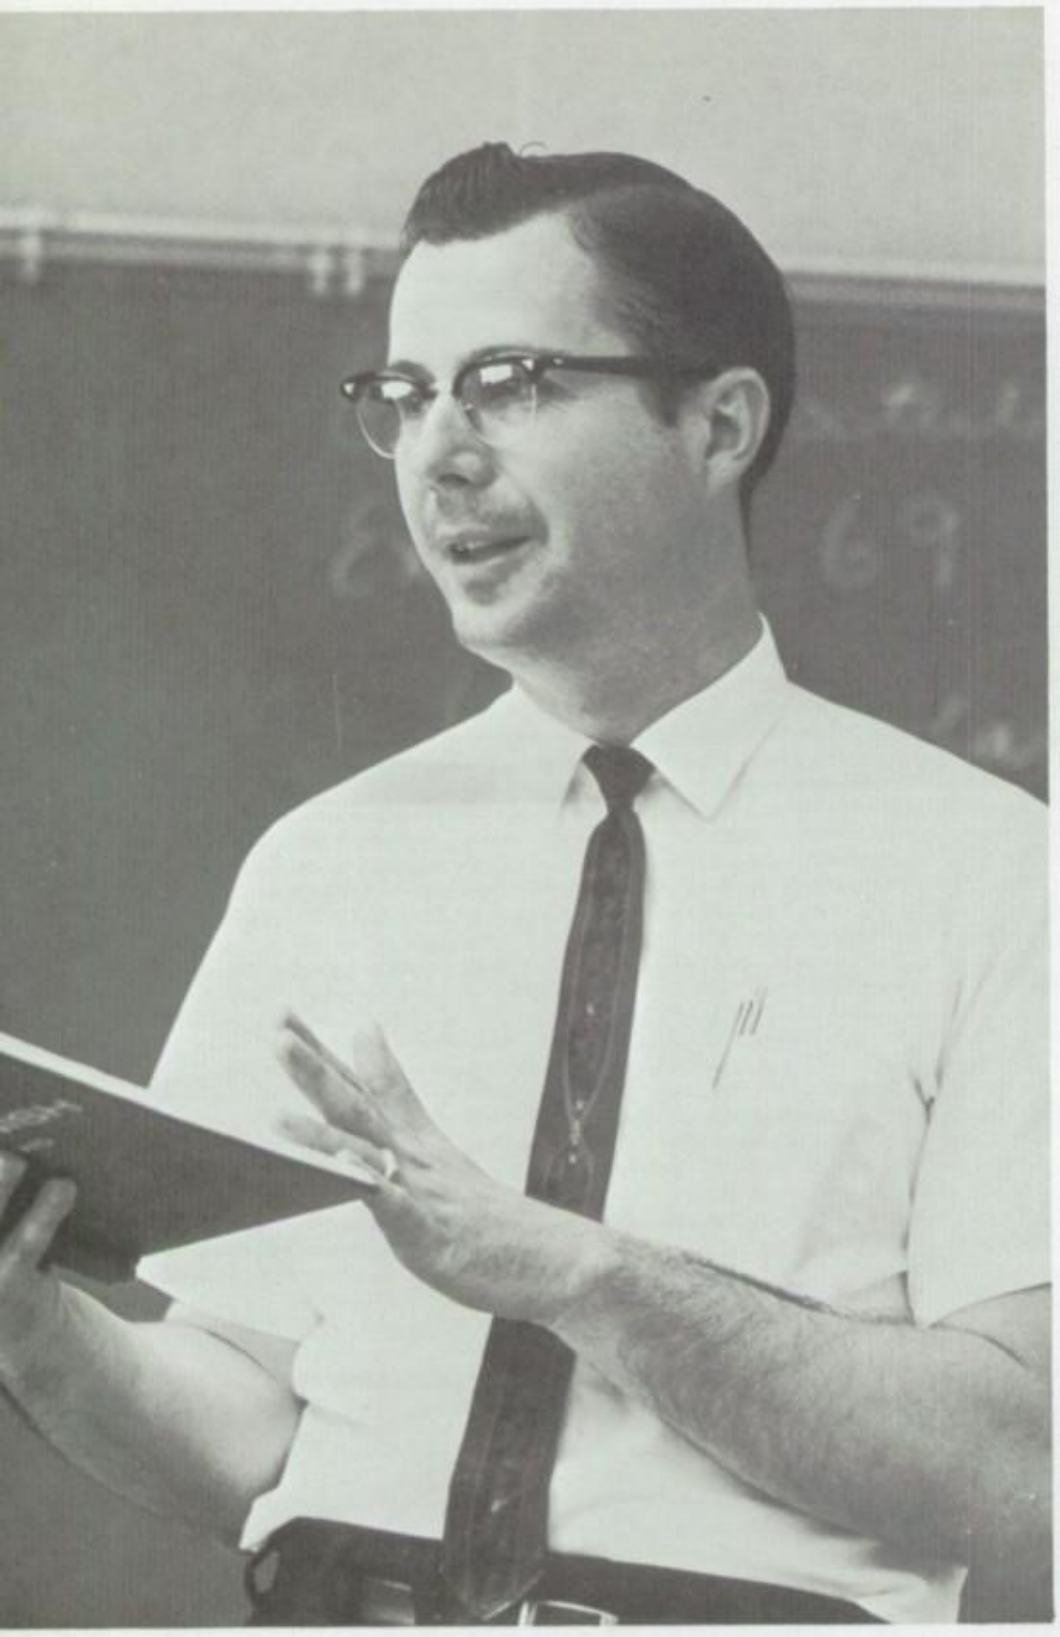
Mrs. Trulock, registrar, records the permanent records of all Permianites.

Mrs. Hesser, a new face in the attendance office, assists Mrs. Long by checking the attendance records of students.

Mrs. Long spends most of the day checking on Permian's absences.

The typewriter is familiar in the work of Mrs. Sullins, who also works in the registrar's office.

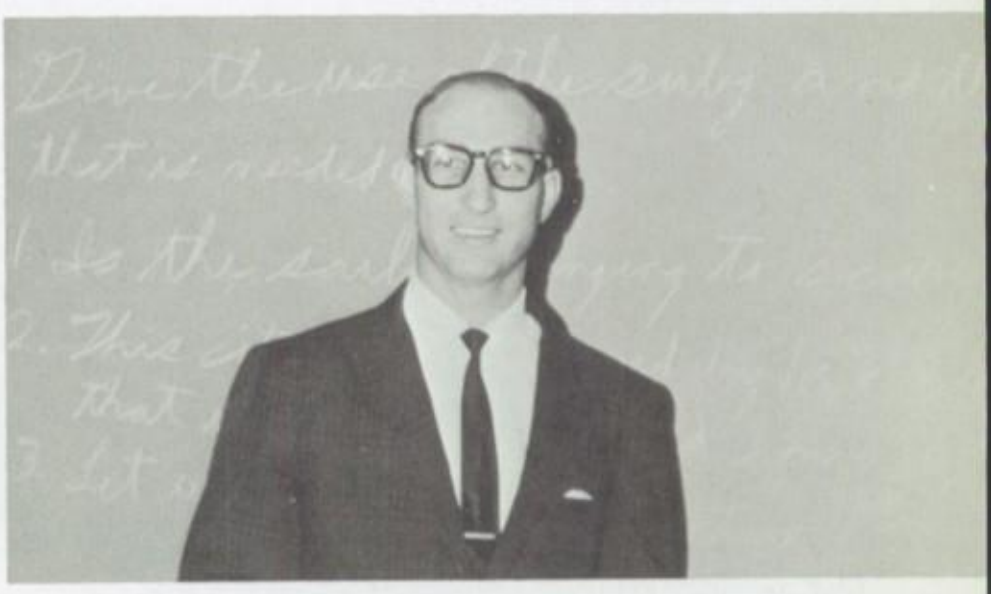
Languages . . . The Key to a Smaller World



Comprende?—pregunta Sr. Cates.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE:
A.V. Cates B.A.
Marie Cherry B.A.
Anne Ellis B.A., M.A.
Melvin Holt B.S.
Eddene Roberts B.A.

Discussions of the Spanish culture often arise in Mrs. Cherry's class.



Mr. Holt explains verb tenses to new Latin students.

Mrs. Roberts expounds on a point made in her French lesson of the day.

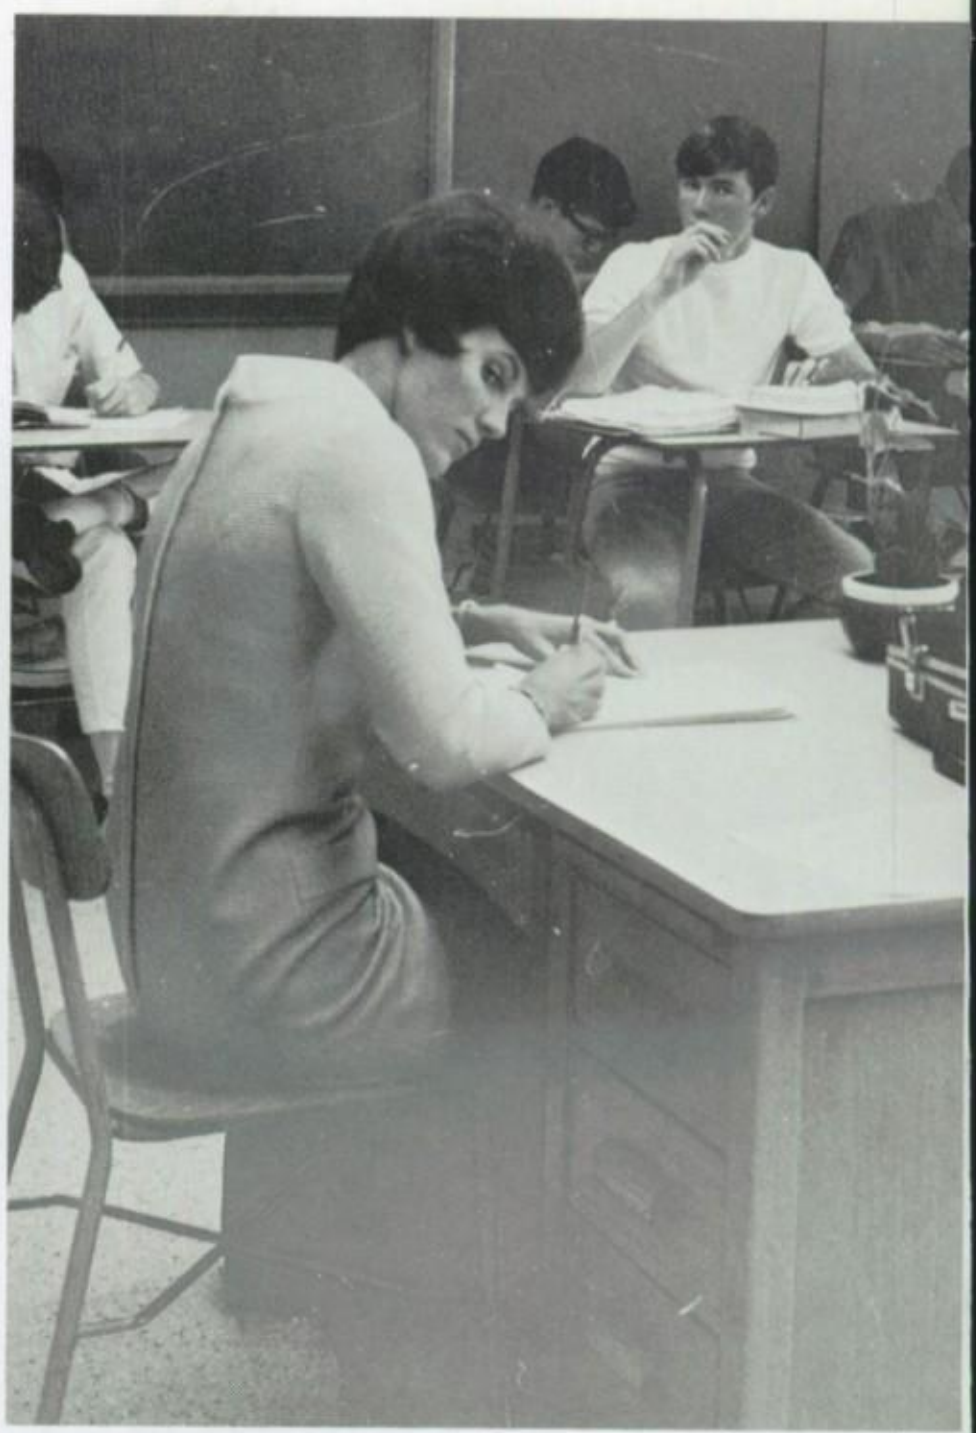
Mrs. Ellis patiently writes out an assignment sheet for make-up.

Teachers. . . .

ENGLISH:
Martha Cook, B.S.
Doris Fowler, B.A., M.A.
Margaret Hatcher, B.A., B.S., M.A.
Betty Henderson, B.A.

Mrs. Henderson pleasantly accepts a student's paper as he reluctantly hands it in.

Miss Fowler, assists Debbie Lauderdale with her English literature.



One can never escape from Miss Hatcher.

Mrs. Cook brightens her rooms with American authors and posters.

. . . The Keys to New Doors

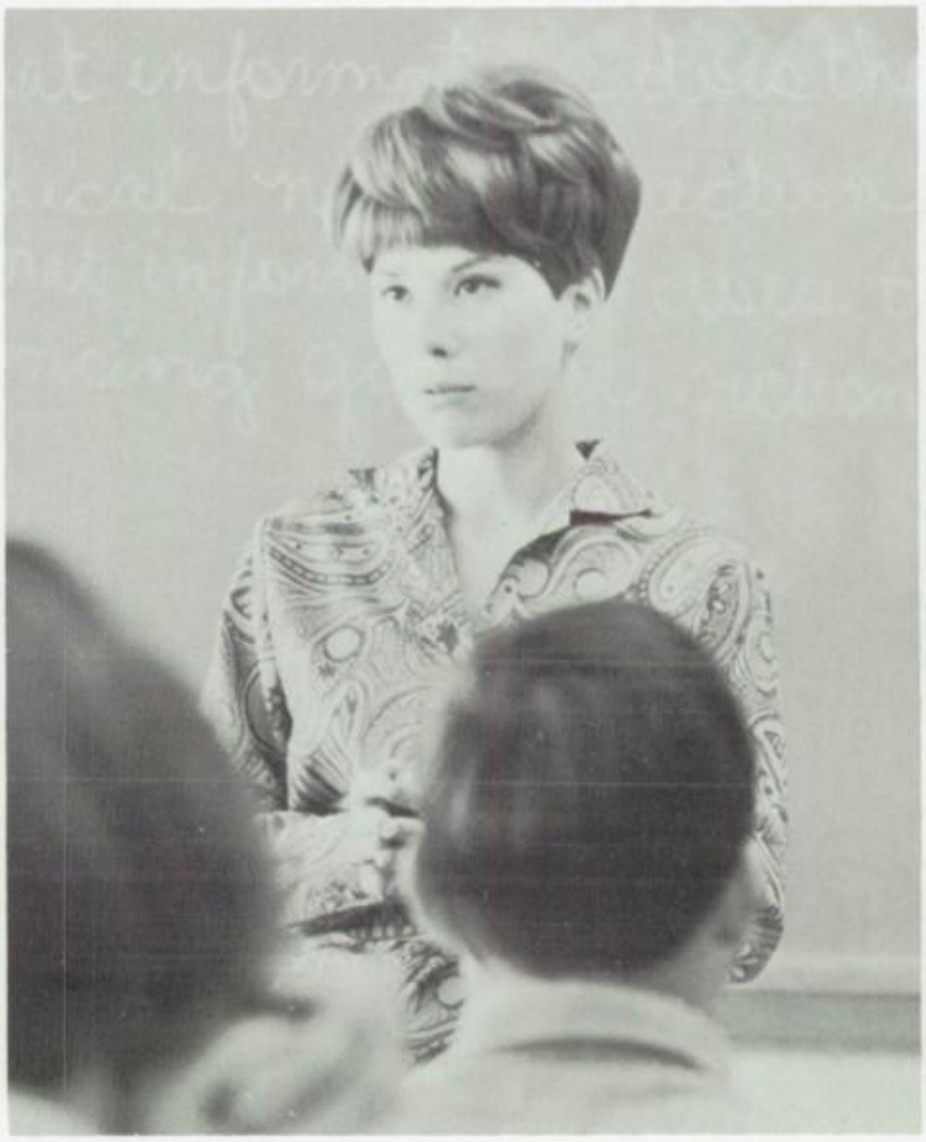
ENGLISH:
Jane Griffing, B.A.,M.A.
Flo Lambeth, B.J.
Jane Seabolt, B.A.,M.A.
Pat Sherrod, B.A.
Vernie Whiddon,B.A.

Taking a breather from her work, Mrs. Seabolt enjoys a joke.

Mrs. Lambeth—seen in one of a teacher's most usual and lengthy poses—grading papers.

Griff, as some of her student-friends call her, goes over papers using the overhead projector.

"So, naturally one can see the results," explains Mrs. Whiddon.

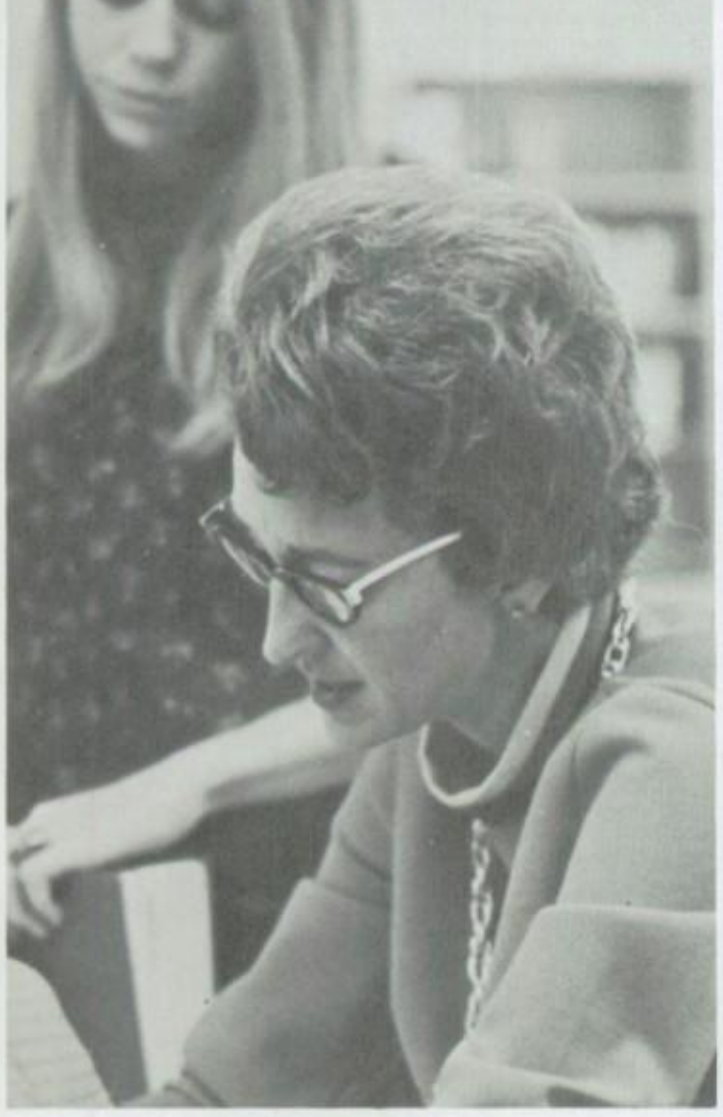


Mrs. Sherrod listens to a student's penetrating query.

"Literature Is My Utopia. . ."

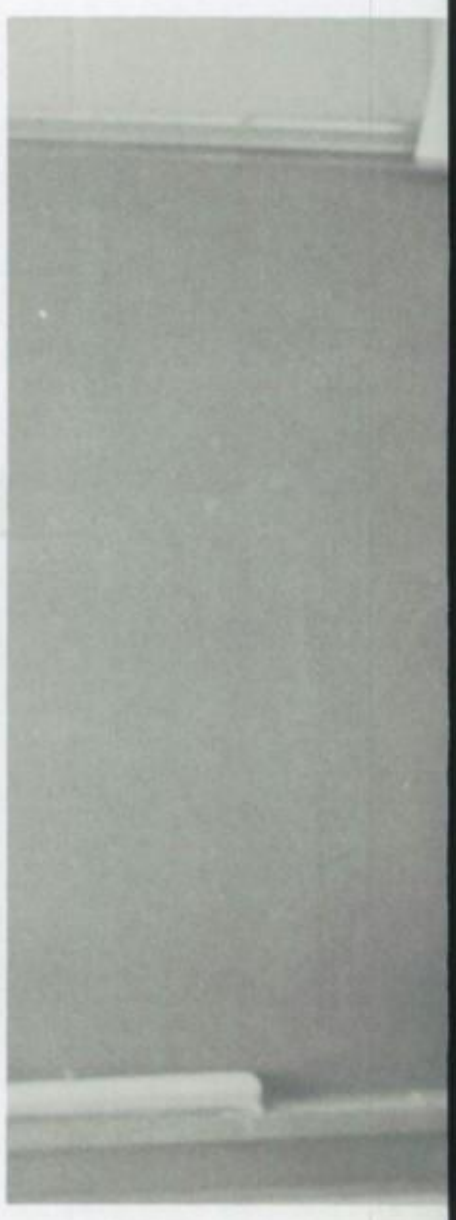
Even though English is her subject, Mrs. Patterson has to compute grades every nine weeks.

This year Mrs. Gustafson introduced a new facet to the English department—the Journal.



Mrs. Strong explains the techniques of the term theme to Donna Billingsley.

Mrs. Foster's sense of humor enables her to get a laugh out of the simplest of tasks—even handing out papers.



—Helen Keller

Mrs. Featherstone takes time out of her busy day to relax for a moment.

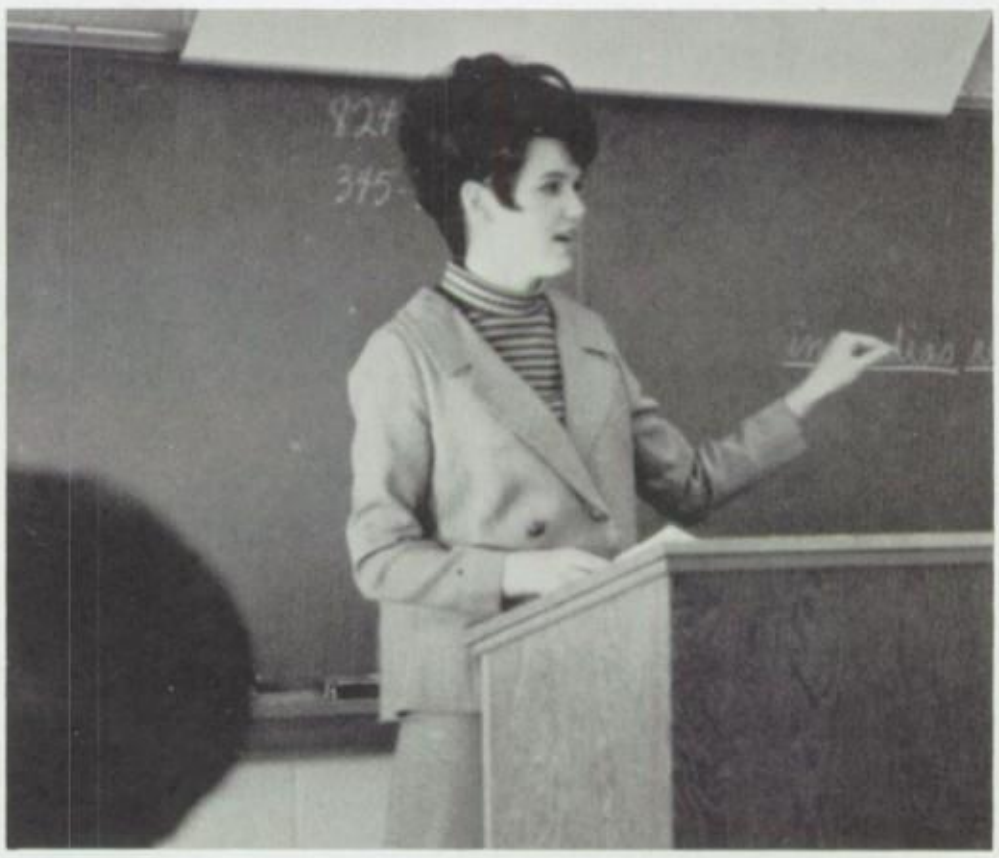
Mrs. Baker pensively reads selections from the junior literature book.



Mrs. Clement's lectures are incomplete without the gestures she uses to emphasize important issues.

for willing-to-listen people like Mrs. Dial!

"Of Course, Shakespeare didn't write CATCHER IN THE RYE," replies Mrs. Lee disgustingly.

SCIENCE:
Lamar Bridges, B.A., M.S.
Marion Byrom, B.S.
Elvin Hinson, B.S.
Charles Thomas, B.S.,M.A.

Nothing like Celcius thermometers, huh, Mr. Bridges?

Teachers who want to get ahead sometimes have to do reading assignments.

Preparation for his biology labs requires much of Mr. Thomas' time.

Science—a serious subject studied by serious students and teachers—is illustrated by Mr. Hinson and Robert Hogue.

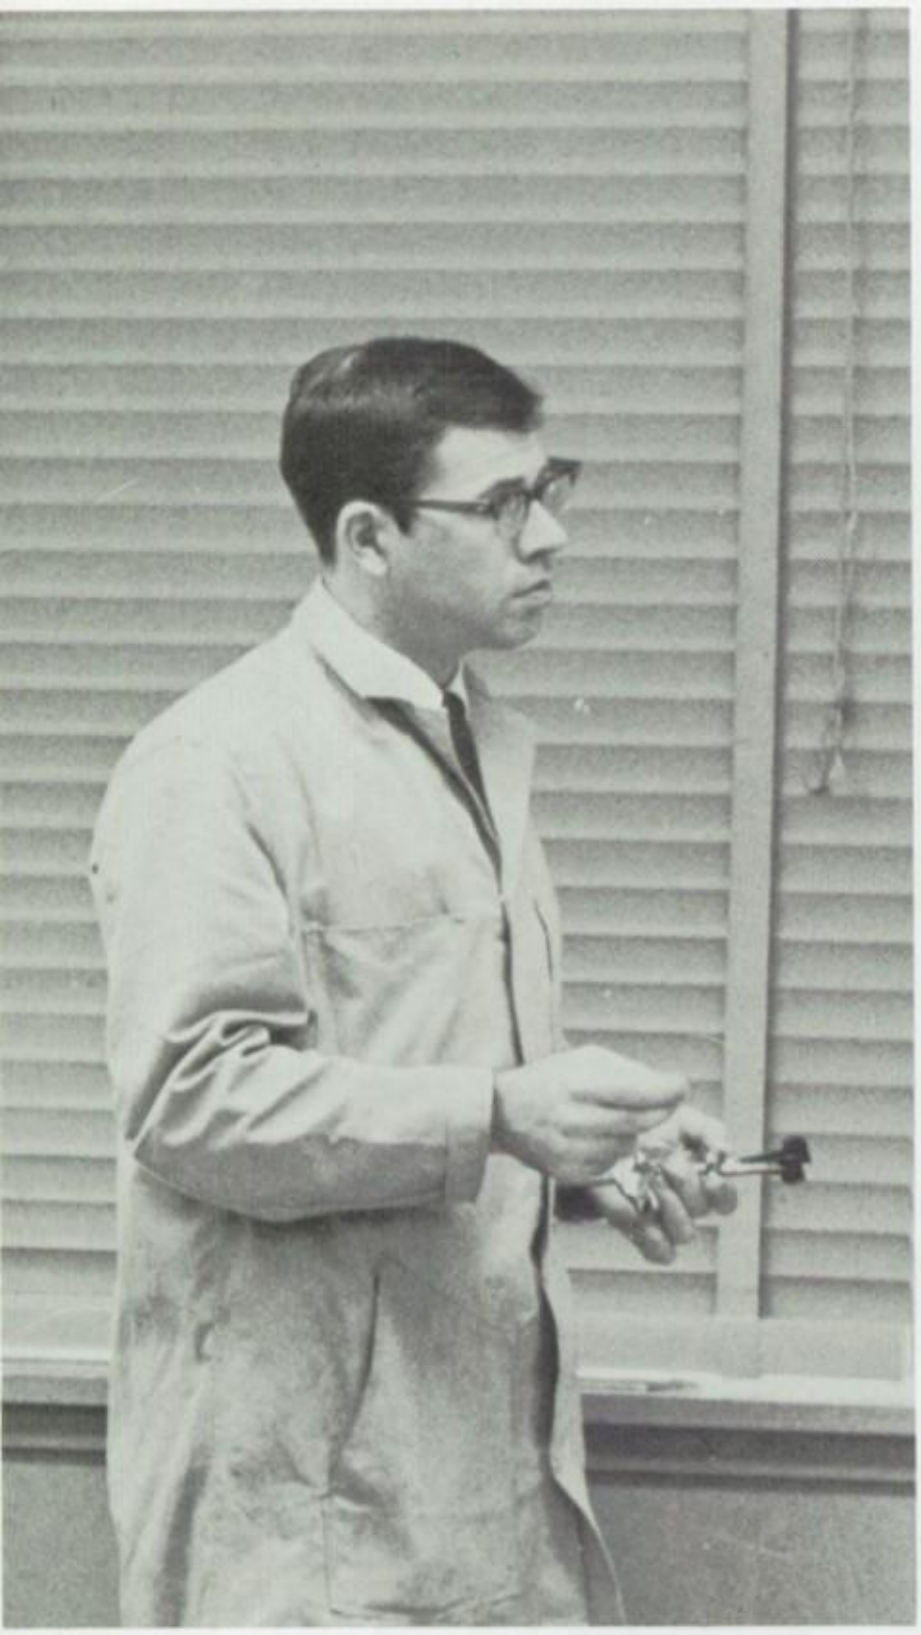
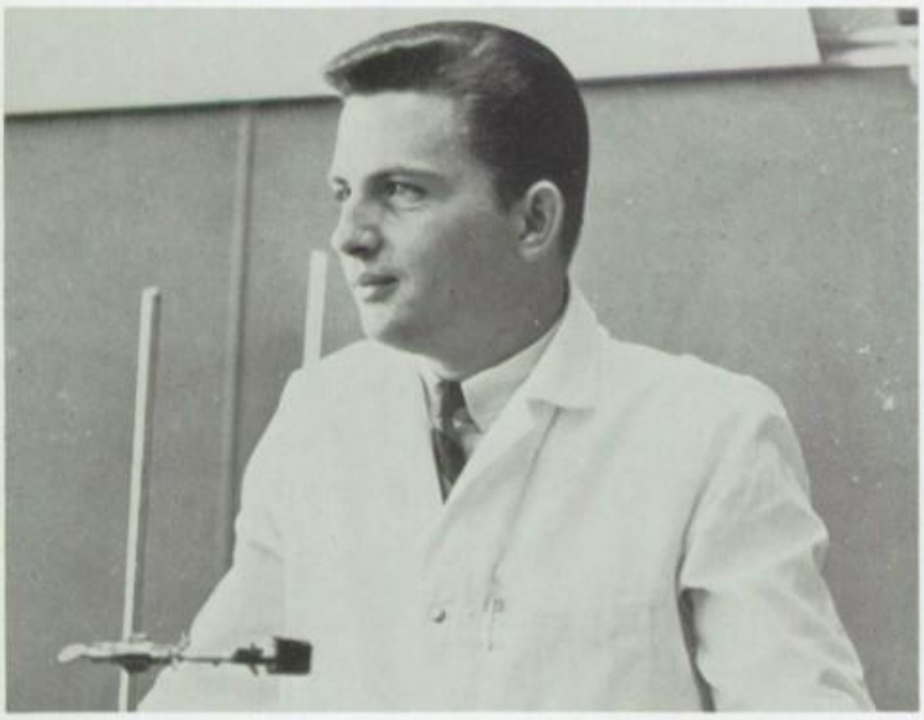
Larry Moore, B.A.

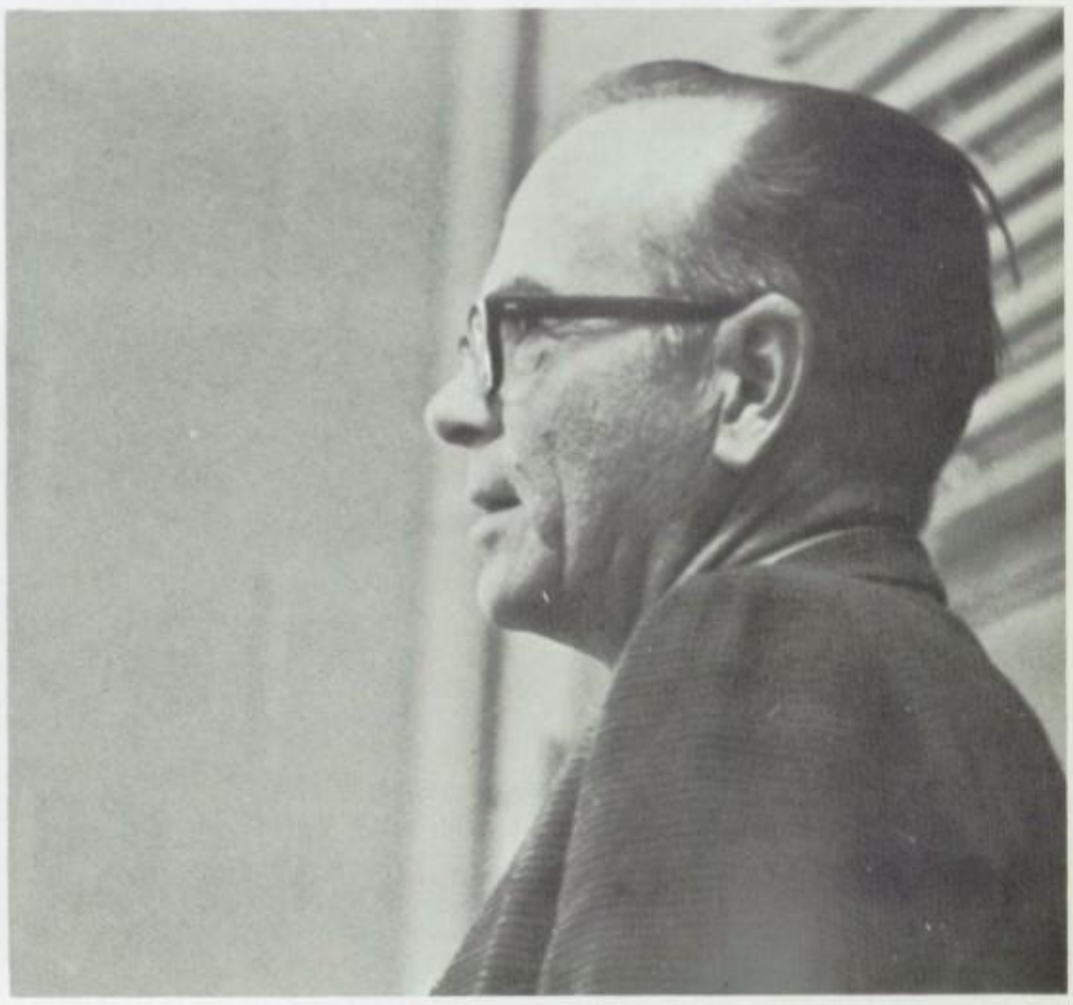


After school, Mr. Meador helps students who are making up labs, i.e., fixing their test tube clamps.

Mr. Johnson gets a grin out of reviewing tomorrow's material.



Mr. Moore . . . contemplating the amazing and mysterious wonders of biology . . .

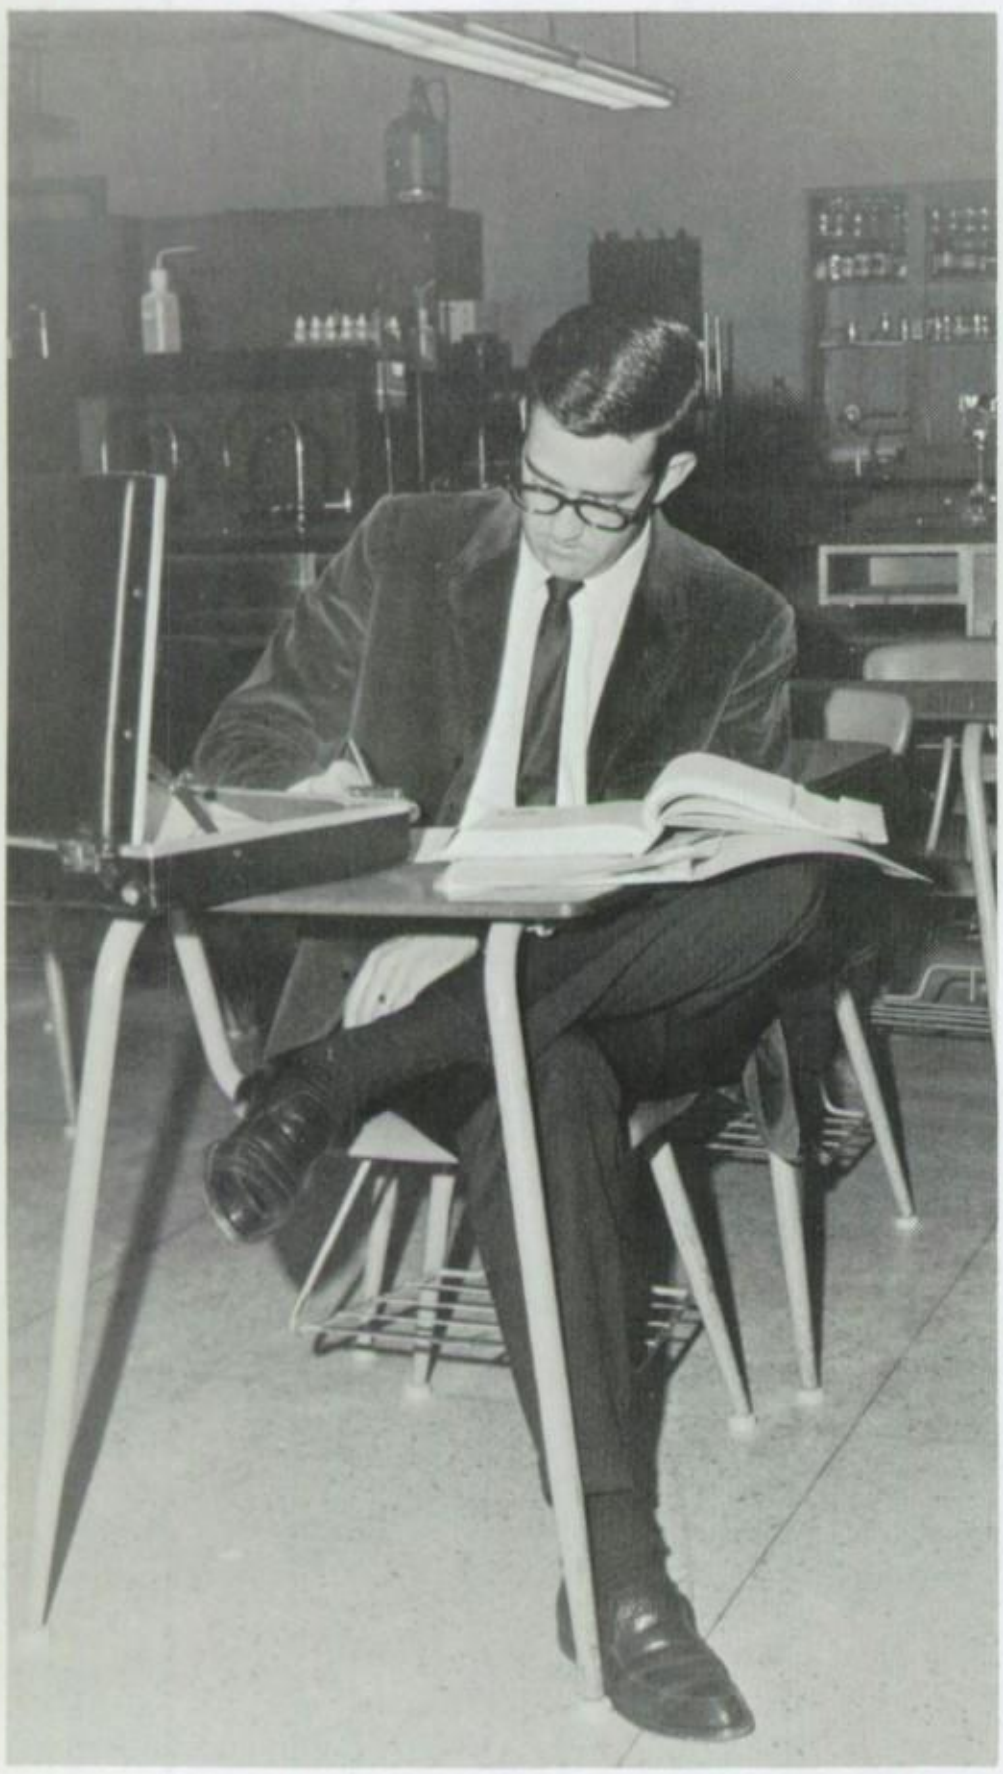


Mr. Golden pauses in his lecture to answer a student's questions.

Educators of Today's Youth . . .

SCIENCE:
John May, B.S., M.Ed.
James Orbeck, B.A., M.A.
Garland Tiner, B.S., M.S.
Jerry Watts, B.A.

Dittoing tests is a regular task of Mr. Tiner.



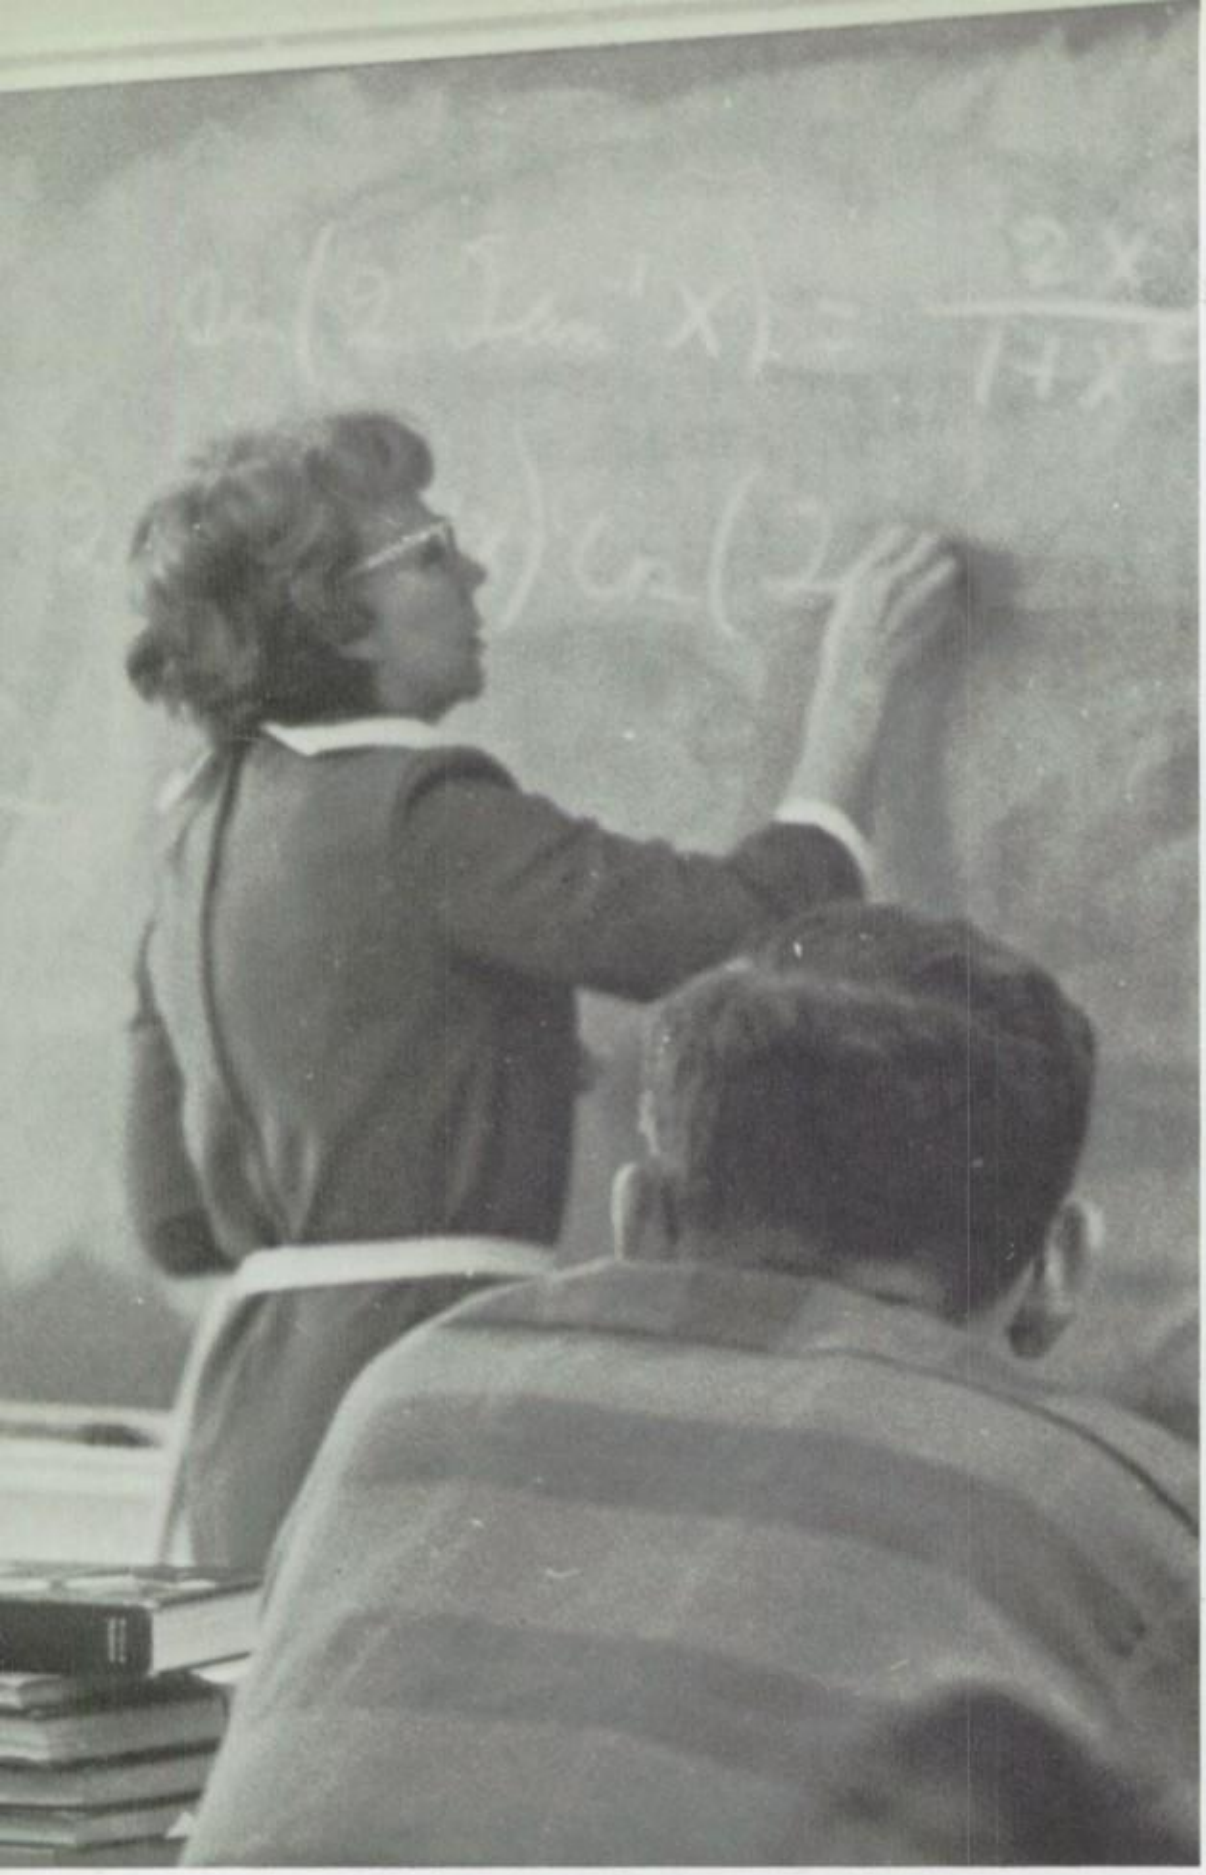
Homework seems to be regular with Mr. Watts, who is alert, and cunning.

Mr. May uses the overhead projector to better illustrate the structure of certain organisms.

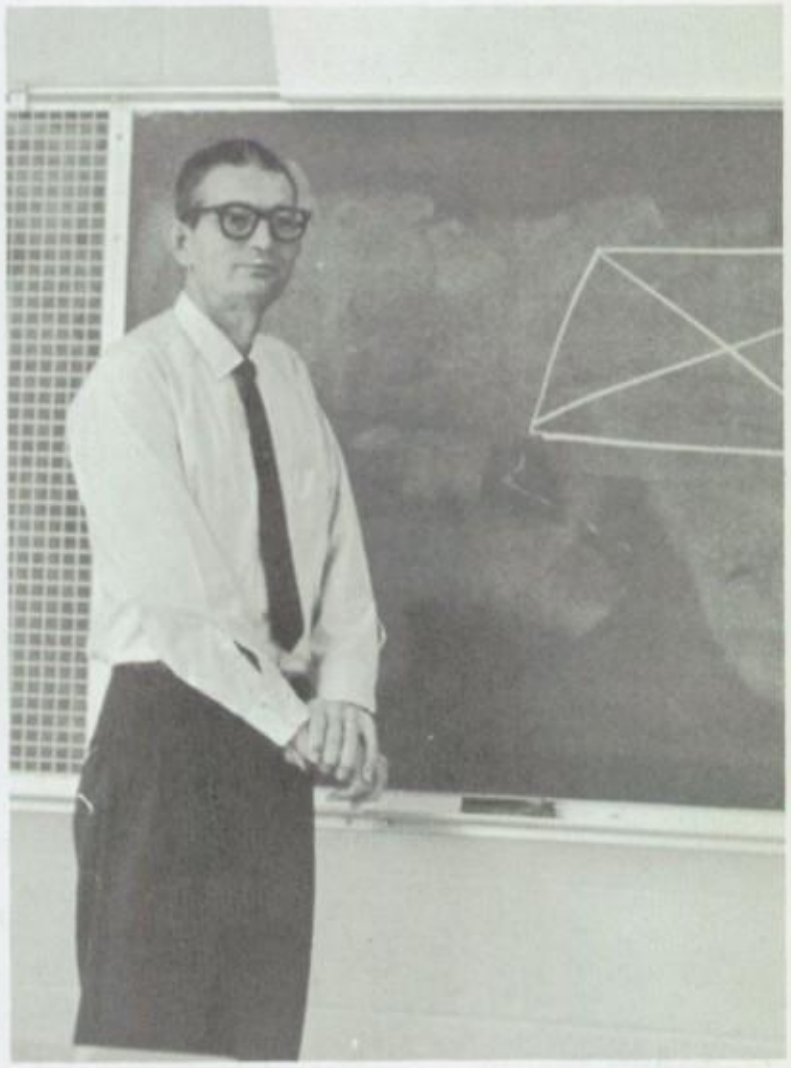
The face of a man who knows his work—the scientist, Mr. Orbeck.

Teachers of Our Future Leaders

MATH:
James Grubbs, B.S., M.Ed.
Nathan Harding, B.S., M.A.
Tony Willeke, B.S., M.Ed.
Ruby Kay Jones, M.A.



Miss Jones . . . an expert in her field . . . a true teacher.

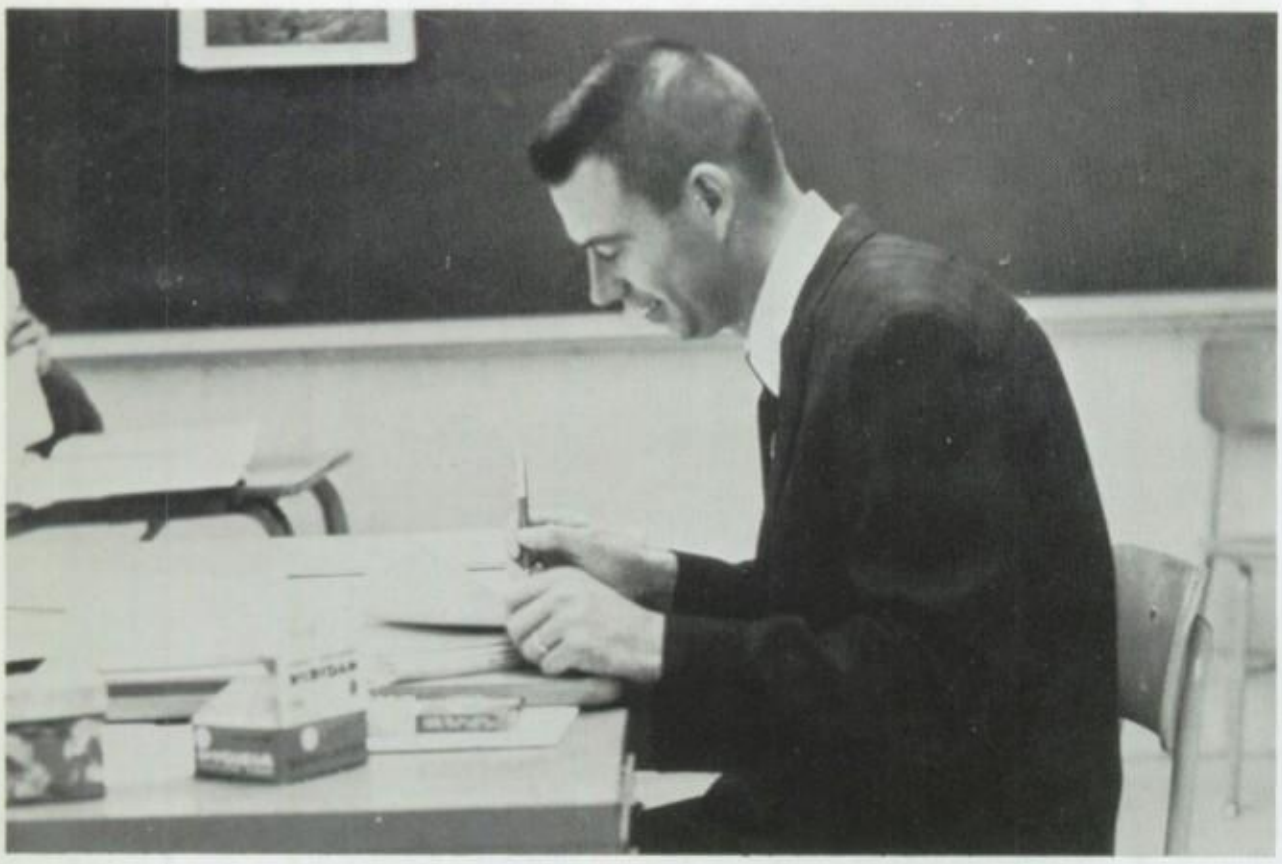


"Does anyone know how we can prove the theorem?" queries Mr. Grubbs.

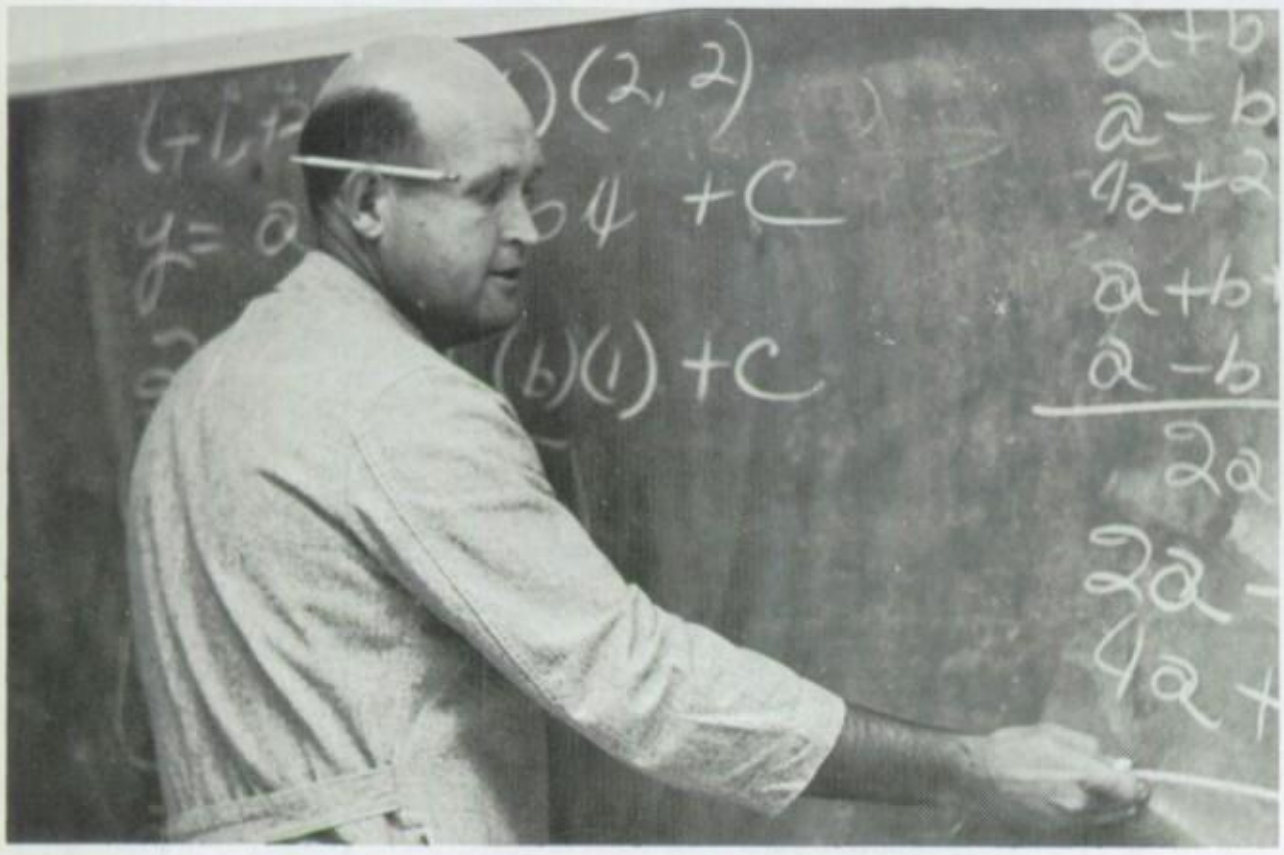
Mr. Willeke assumes a comfortable position in order to teach math.

". . . changing it to the form, a + bi, gives us the solution set."

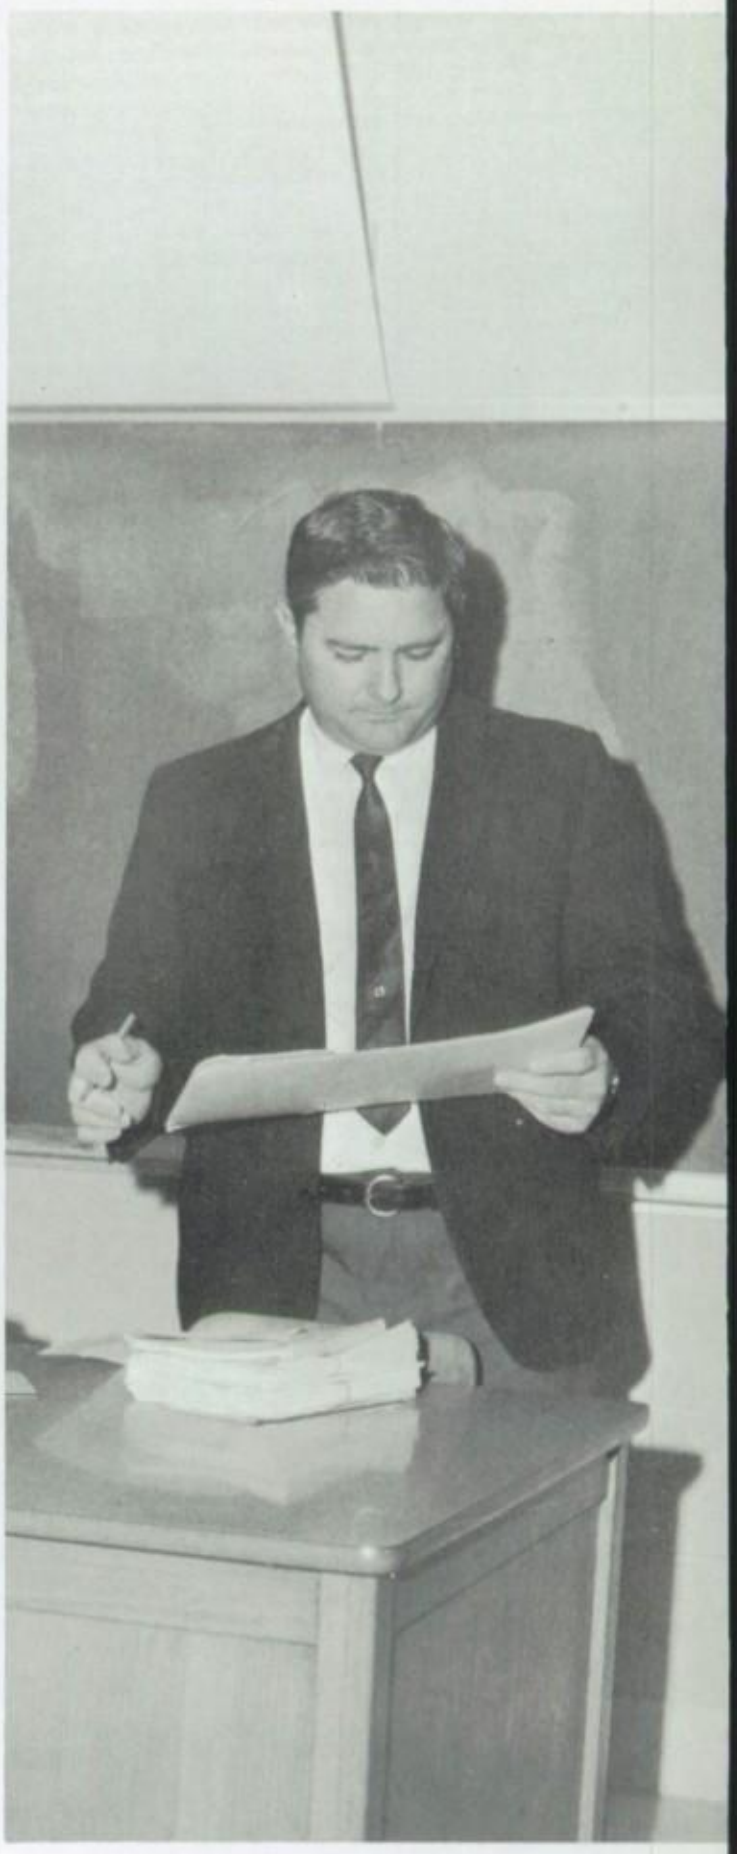
Math . . . Increasingly Important



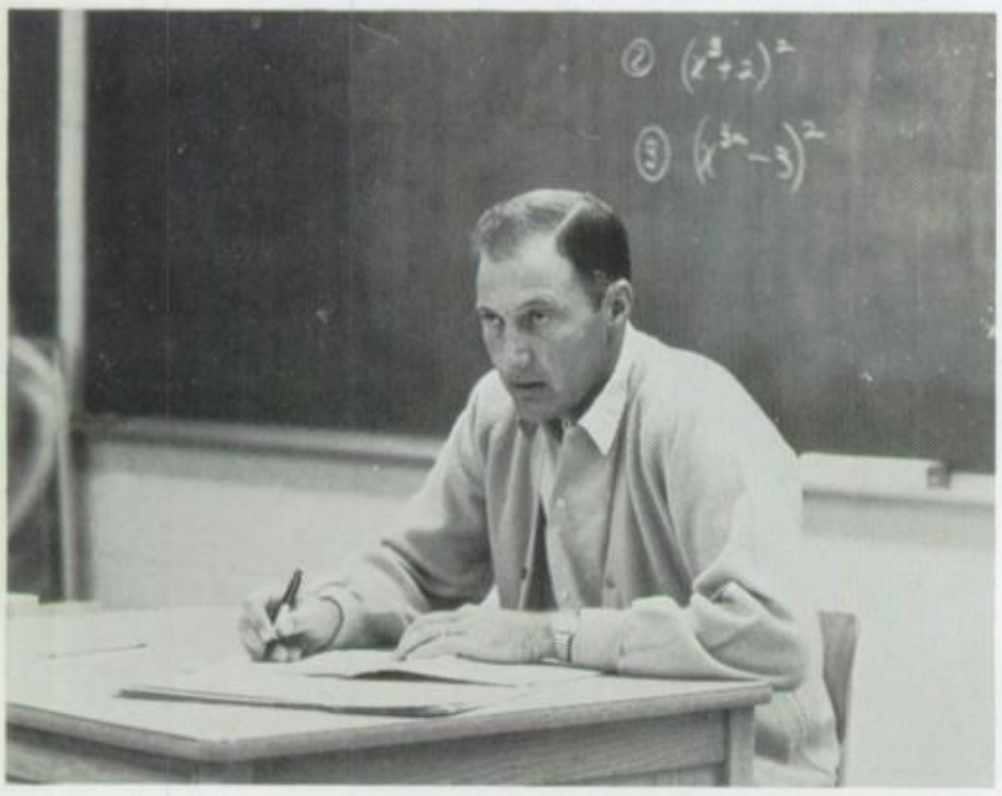
There is nothing like grading tests, is there, Mr. Wallace?



". . . And this in turn gives . . . " explains Mr. Jacobs.



Mr. Moad fulfills one of his everyday duties—roll checking.



MATH:
Sammy Hooper, B.S.
Billy Jacobs, B.S., M.E.
Wayne Moad, B.S.
D. S. Wallace, B.S.

Thinking . . . thinking . . . Mr. Hooper, always thinking.

To Education of Today

MATH:
Charles Bledsoe, B.S.
Helen Crawley, M. Ed.
Roscoe Haynes, B.S., M.A.
Alford Rushing, B.S., M.A.
Verma Sanders, B.A.

"Does everyone understand polynimials?" Mr. Rushing asks his algebra students.

Is Mr. Bledsoe deciphering an old Chinese manuscript or one of his geometry student's tests?

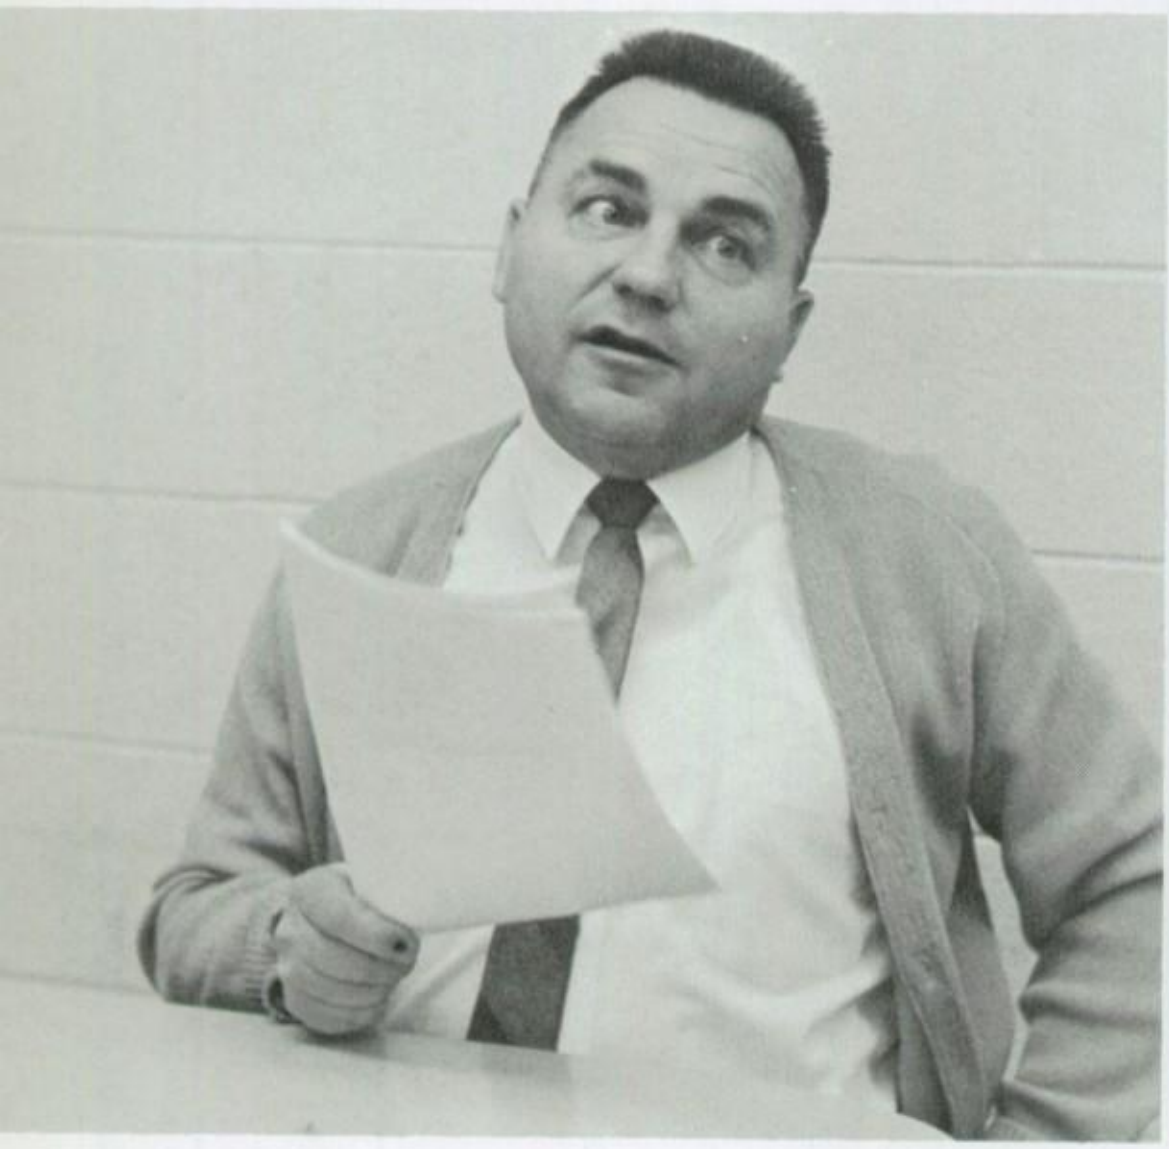
"Funny, I never looked at it that way, Mr. Haynes."

Mrs. Sanders sits alone, contemplating the diversities of geometry.

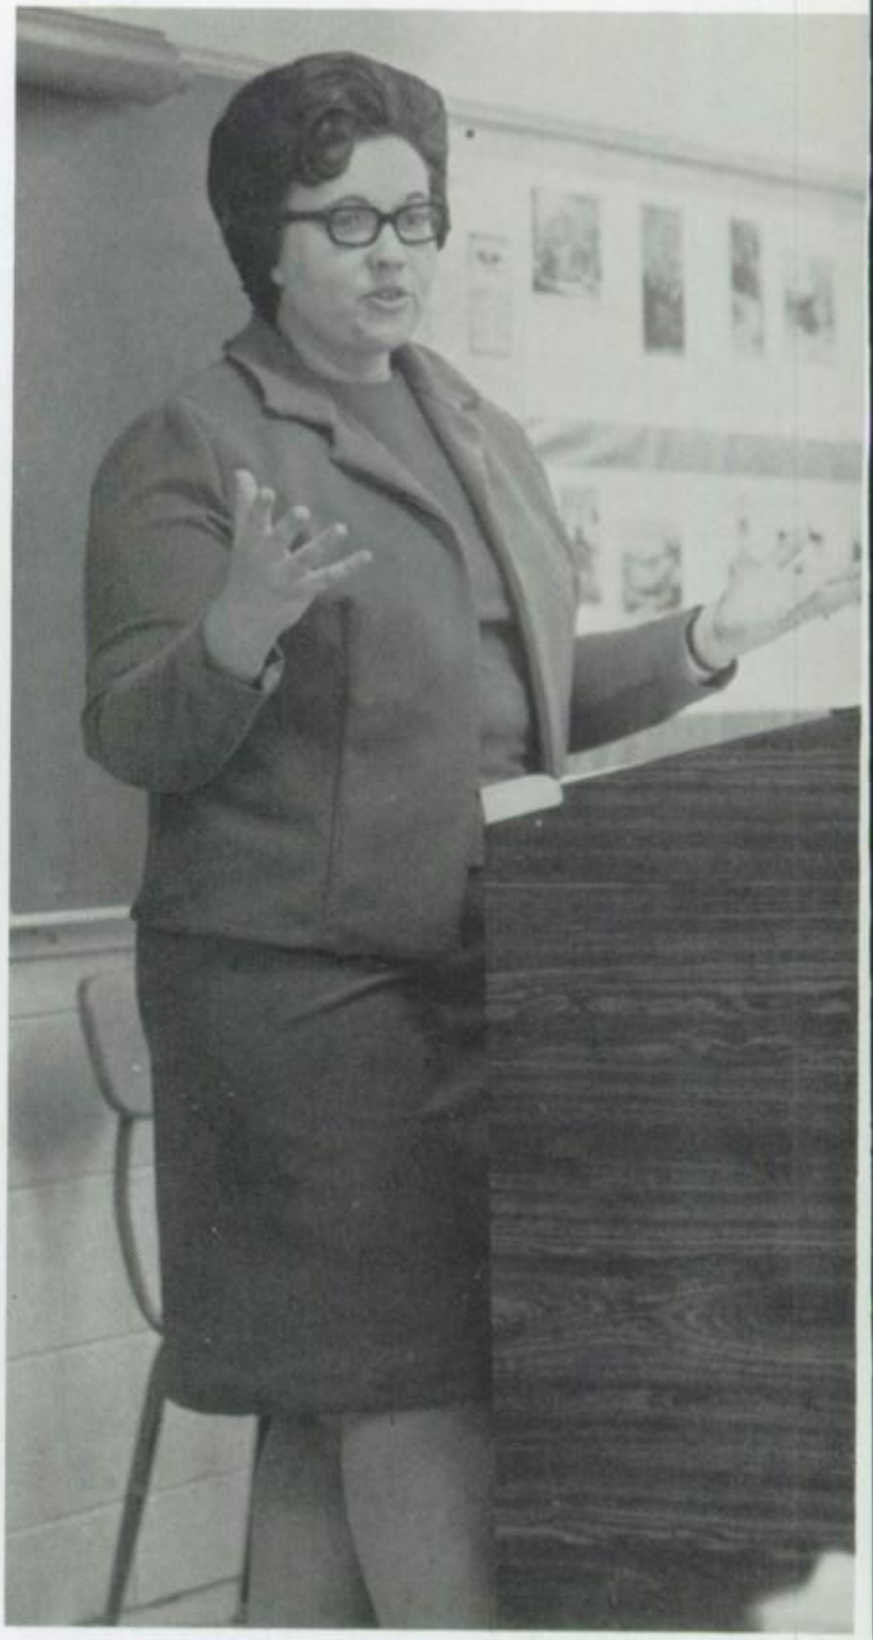
"You're kidding . . . "quips Mrs. Crawley.

"History . . . the Life of Memory

SOCIAL SCIENCE:
Linda Clark, B.A.
Billie Lea, B.S.
Wanda Swafford, B.S.
Lou Turlo, B.S.,M.A.



Always the life of the Government class, Mr. Turlo explains anything from marriage customs in Holland to immigration laws of the U. S.



Mrs. Swafford, with a flair for teaching and a great sense of humor, makes history informative and interesting.

Miss Lea listens as one of her students asks a question concerning the political aspects of American history.

Miss Clark enriches her teaching of foreign affairs and economics with the use of audio-visual equipment.

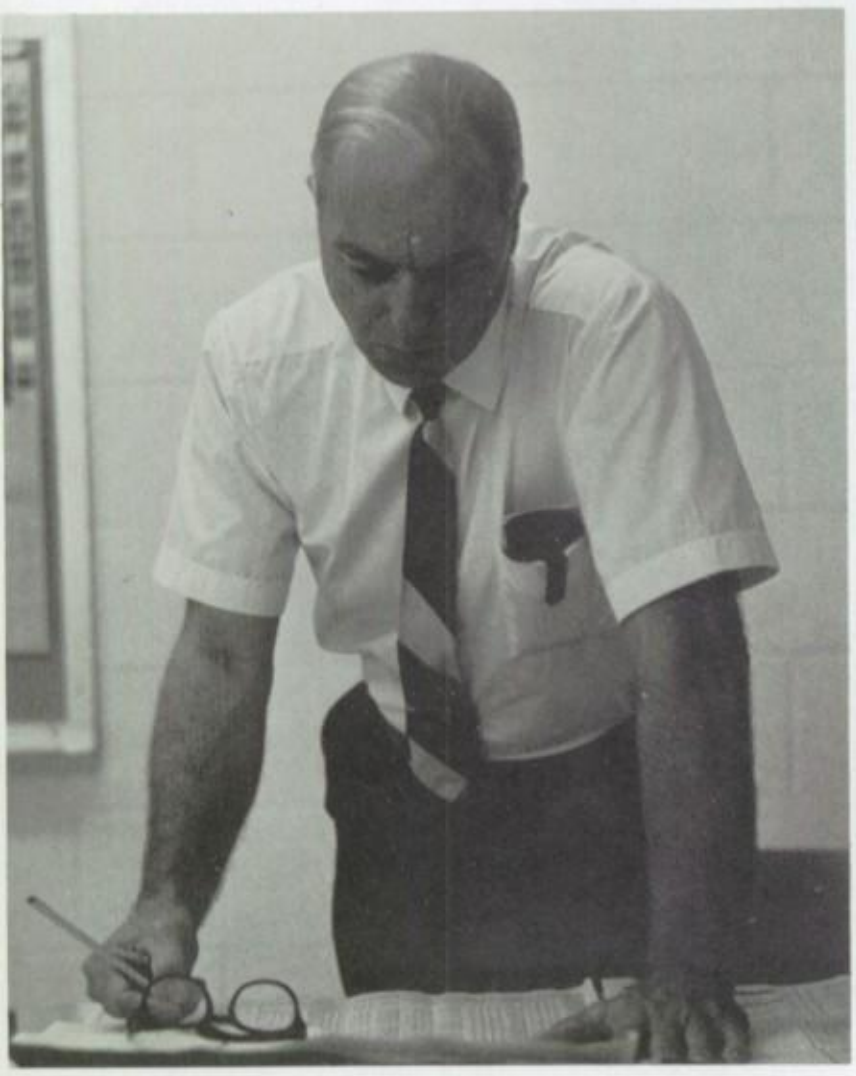
. . . the Messenger of Antiquity"

SOCIAL SCIENCE:
Jo Brown, B.A.
J. M. Foster, B.A.,M.A.
Dorothy Sawyer, B.A.,M.A.
Frank Seifert, B.Sc., M.A.
Stella Warner, B.A.,M.A.

Mr. Foster has no trouble getting his lesson across in government and commercial law.

"Are there any questions about that?" asks Mrs. Warner.

Miss Brown keeps the class laughing with her funny expressions.



Mr. Seifert keeps abreast of the news by reading the daily newspaper.

Mrs. Sawyer overcomes great obstacles—grading papers IN THE COLD.

Business Department

BUSINESS:
Sara Bretches, B.B.A.
Margaret Fewell, B.S.
Gladys Morgan, B.S.
Nancy Ross, B.S.
M'Liss Schneider, B.S.
Josephine Thomas, B.S.

"No, you can't type without paper."

"What do you mean, you have typewriter ribbon in your hair?"

Mrs. Thomas, shouldn't you be practicing your typing?

"My, aren't we having fun today, pupils?"

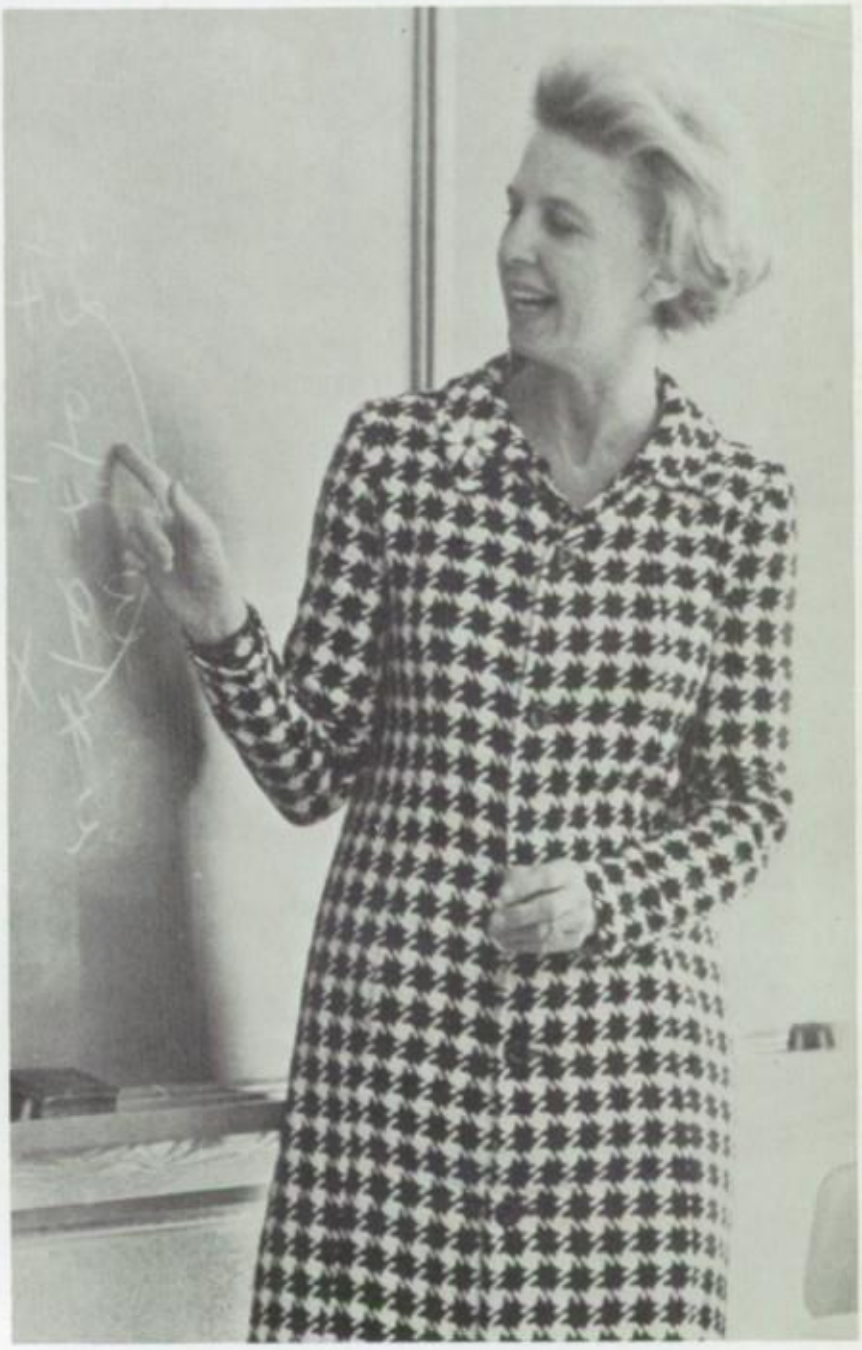
Mrs. Bretches prepares for her next class.

Prepares Students for Office Careers

Teachers have homework, too. Don't they, Mrs. Schneider?

Mrs. Perry with a message to her shorthand students.

"Surely you typed ONE word correctly!"



Mrs. Bates explains a complicated mathematical problem.

BUSINESS:
Polly Bates, B.A.
Glyne Baum, B.A.
Virginia Perry, B.S.

Men and Their Music

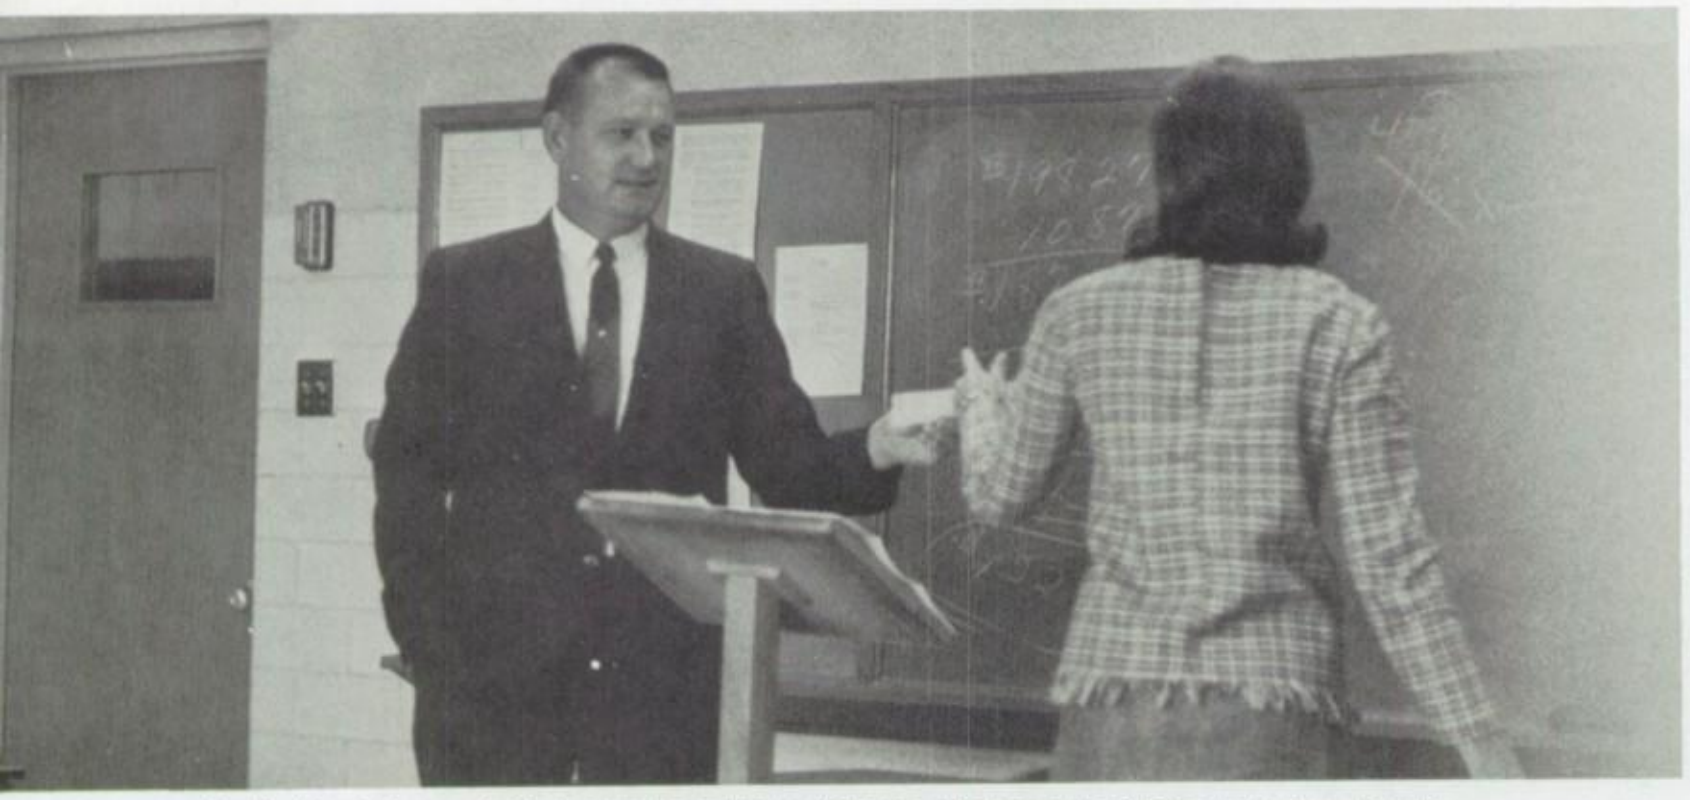
Lewis Jordan, B.M.ED., M.M.ED.
Sam Knepley, B.M.ED.
J. R. McEntyre, M.M.ED.

With a song in his heart . . .

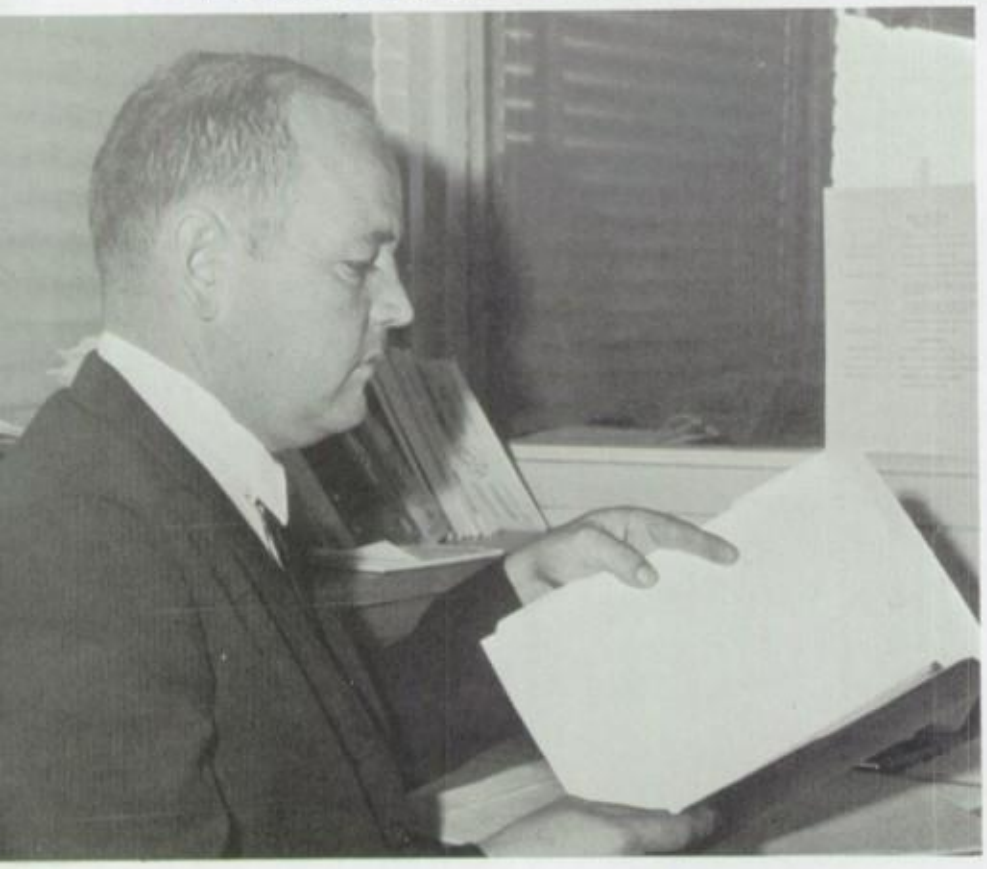
The right-hand man . . .

Mr. Music himself . . .

Business . . . The Backbone of a Nation



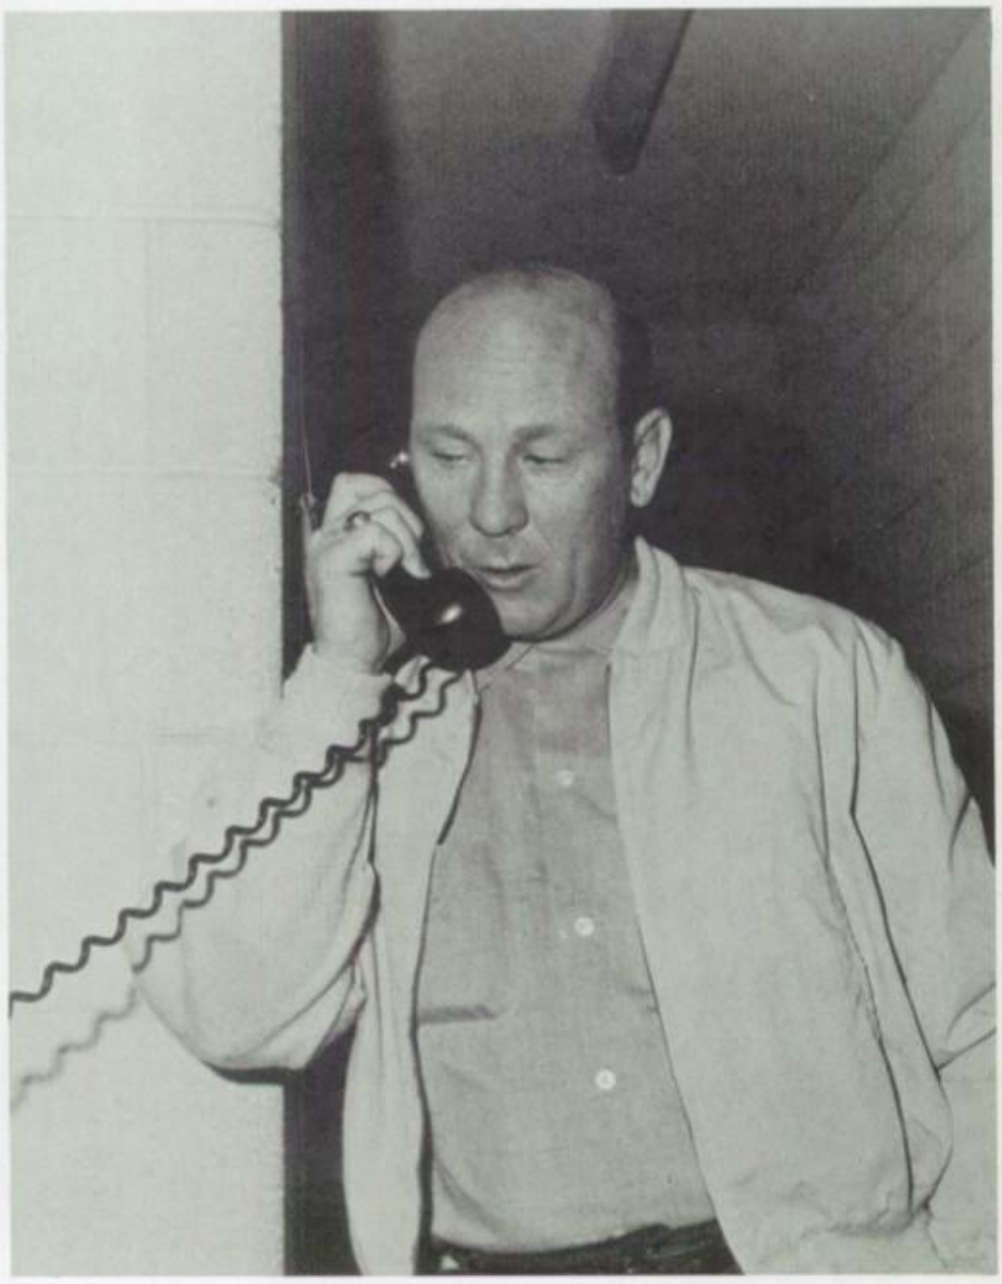
Mr. Perkins interrupts his lecture in order to deliver a slip from the Office to Barbara Sterling.



VOCATIONAL:
Paul Brown, B.S.
Evelyn Kisner, B.S.
Clifford Owen, B.A.
W. D. Perkins, M.ED.

Mr. Brown checks the weekly earnings of his students with much interest and much care.

Mrs. Kisner explains the use of office equipment to Patsy Monroe.



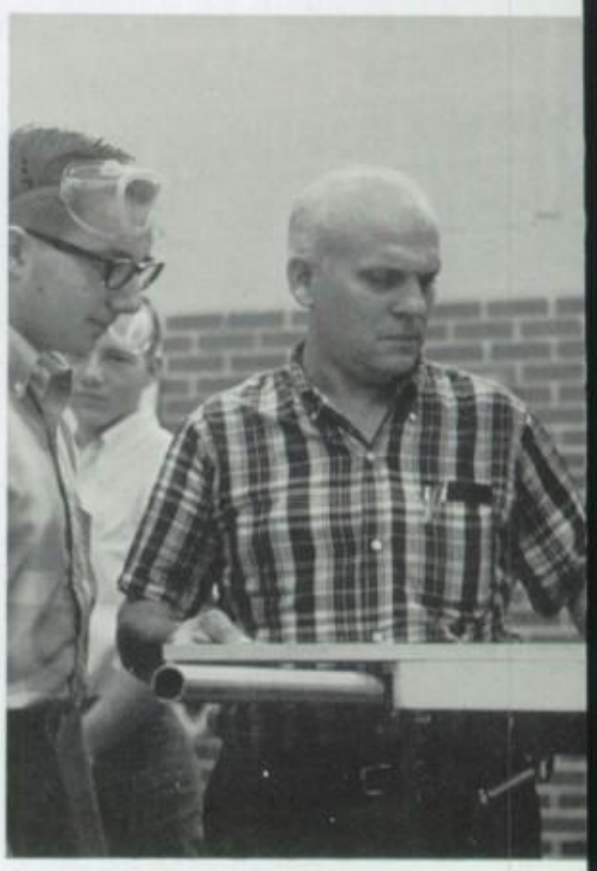
Mr. Owens, forever on the move, takes time out to chat with an employer.

Men Learn as They Teach—

Mr. Guerrero looks in a jewelry magazine to better illustrate his point.

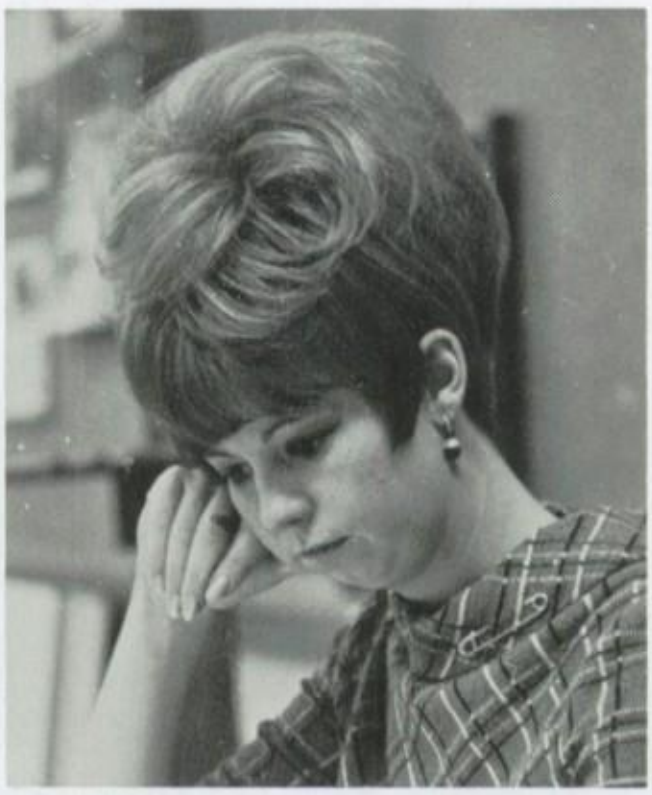
Mike Martin listens attentively as Mr. Stroh explains one of the complicated processes of drafting.

Mr. Kruse stands by to assist as one of his students learns the art of welding.



Demonstration, as shown by Mr. Holbert, is an asset to learning.

Mr. Roberts, with paint brush in hand, aids his student in her assignment.



Miss Morrison proves that all teachers have paper work—even artists.

ARTS AND VOCATIONS:
David Guerrero, B.S.
Woodrow Holbert, B.S.
Jerry Kruse, B.S.
Judy Morrison, B.S.
Gregory Roberts, B.S.,M.A.
Ray Stroh, B.A., M.A.

Men Teach as They Learn

Pinning, altering, and measuring are part of Mrs. Jenkins' everyday curriculum.

HOME ECONOMICS:
Jorene Hopkins, B.S.
Dorothy Jenkins, B.S.
Ethie Moore, B.S.
Paula Pendergraft, B.S.E.

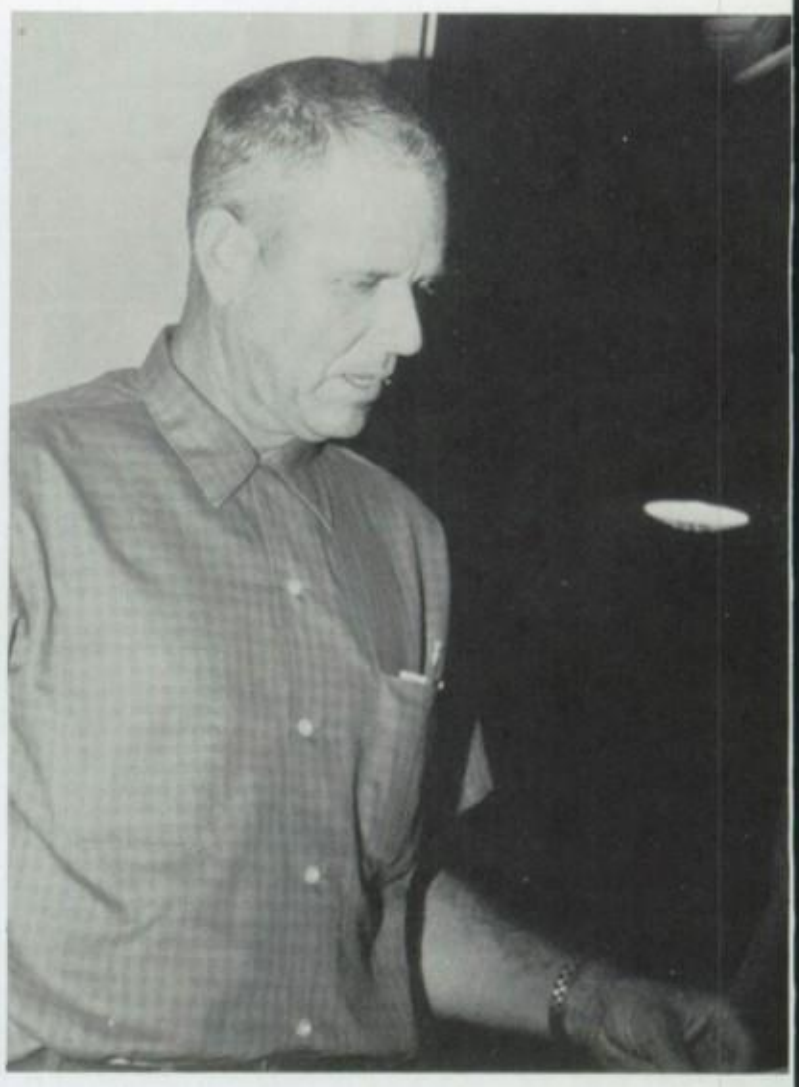
"Dear Betty Crocker" . . . writes Mrs. Pendergraft.

Mrs. Moore takes time out of her homemaking class to do routine chores.

Table manners and a lovely centerpiece enhance the meals in Mrs. Hopkin's class.

The Best of Times. . . .

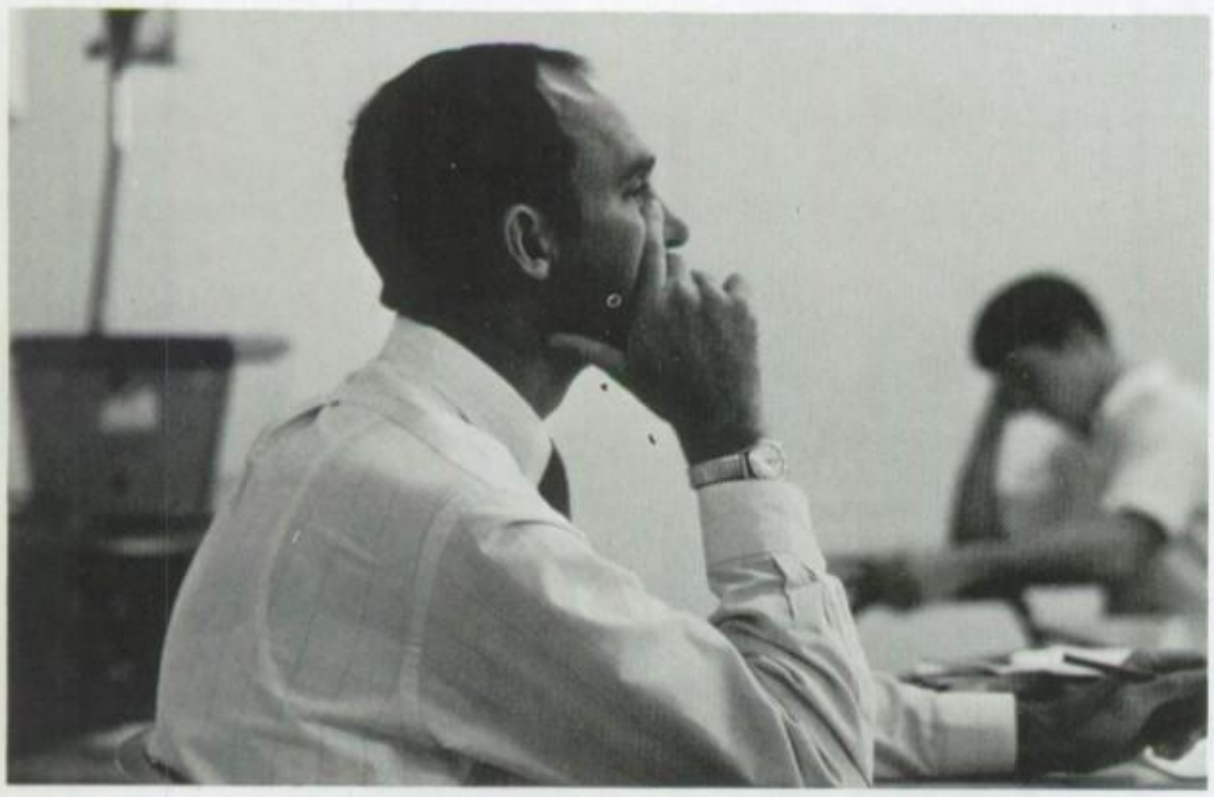
Mr. Hensley explains an intricate play as the tension of a football game mounts.



Mr. Cox, a friend to every student, is always happy to help someone with a problem.

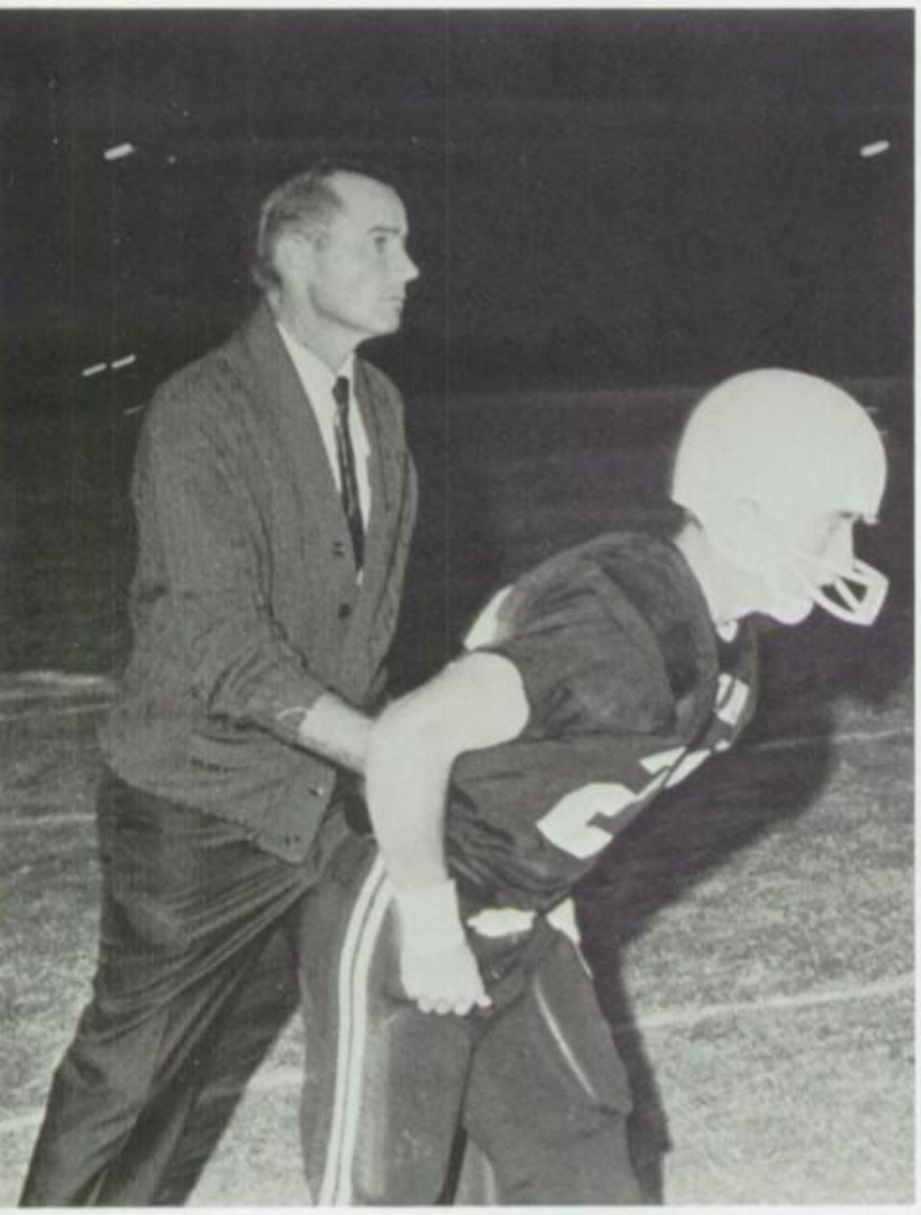
Mr. Hutson is not only a good coach, but also a good teacher.

Mr. Mobley—the strategist—planning the next basketball game.



Mr. Rudd—the thinking man—carries out his train of thought.

The Worst of Times



Mr. Mayfield—the pro—sends in a player for a play into a power-packed game that only Mayfield knows how to play.

COACHES:
Jay Cox B.S.
Ken Fannon B.S.
Leldon Hensley B.S.,M.Ed.
Lawrence Hutson B.A.
Jimmie Janes B.S.
Gene Mayfield M.E.
Harold Mobley B.S.E.
Robert Pheil B.S.
Dean Rudd M.Ed.

Mr. Janes, is the newest addition to the ranks of fine Permian coaches.

At the stroke of midnight, HE turned into an angry orange.

Mr. Pheil explains the respiratory system to his boys' health class.

Healthy Bodies Lead

COACHES:
Jerry Behrens, M.ED.
Charles Bleiker, B.S.
Gene McCanlies, M.ED.
Jim Prichard, M.ED.
Bob Smith, B.S.

Mr. Behrens seriously discusses the defense with one of the players.

Mr. McCanlies—a Panther, a good coach, a gentleman.

"If Dagwood can play tennis, any one can," thinks Mr. Bleiker.

Mr. Smith, "Doc" to most, examines his medical kit to make sure nothing is lacking.

Mr. Prichard, a P.E. coach, spends much of his time as a Junior sponsor.

to Healthy Minds

Miss Yeates sits on her trusty desk as she takes roll.

Mrs. Martin, an asset to the students and the school.

GIRL'S P.E.
Margaret Armstrong, B.S.
Martha Martin, B.S.
Jean Wier, B.S.
Betsy Yeates, B.A.

Mrs. Armstrong, a new member of the faculty, gets into the swim of things.

Mrs. Wier drinks her "Wier" coffee every morning . . .

Those Who Give Their All—

LIBERAL ARTS:
Bodine Johnson B.S.
Jerry Morris B.S.
W. L. Sibley B.S.E.
Rosemary Tittle B.J.
Edith Wright B.S., MLS

Mr. Sibley, after countless successful speech and debate tournaments, instructs his class in the fine art of speaking.

Mrs. Tittle: Permian's journalist, and publications director.

Mrs. Wright—in her world of the Dewey decimal system and card catalogs—sorts through the cards before the day begins.

Mrs. Johnson makes the costumes, props, and sets for her plays—which are ALWAYS successful.

Mr. Morris, hidden beneath all the audio-visual equipment in his office, pauses for a moment of relaxation.

the World of Sophomores

"Well, I'll be!"

The time of a Sophomore is one of growing, changing, and becoming. It is a world which exists to prepare us for other worlds. We face frustrations, defeat, indecision, and triumph, but emerge as a more mature, wiser, and more aware individual being fully conscious of our image and the impression we will have on the future.

As we walk out the door of the past, our future shines before us.

In the Past we begin. .

. . . Glancing
at the Past
To learn what has made us so.

We May Talk to A Friend . . .

The ripples in the water have almost subsided. The rings are larger and not so close together. With the ripples are carried memories of days gone past. . . the first days of being unsure—and turning to a friend to find the smile of reassurance. . . the days of being secure, of knowing, of finding—and turning to a friend to share victories. . . .

But now our friends have come and gone—we have watched them as they traveled along roads of heartbreak and hardship. . . we cried with them—FOR them, because we are people too. Their roads, which became our roads, were as rivers in which shadows of doubt—our doubts with the world—were reflected.

Our friends cried often from joy and triumph and we were there—and thankful for the opportunity to share the floods of emotion which encompassed us in an ocean of ecstasy. In our ocean were the reflections of moments which we now hide away to bring out and love on the days when doubts threaten our precarious position.

We realize, rather sadly, that there is a time when we must leave—leave our friends and seek wider worlds which hold more friends. In this time of leaving the memories become too great—the ocean and the river meet. Our joys and our sorrows flow together as we pause for a moment to reflect upon the goodness of God who has given us a small candle—a friend—to illuminate the darkness of our lives.

We pause momentarily to hold our candle high—to look back once more—to wave good-bye.

Sharon Rice and Karen Schleyer--true friends
